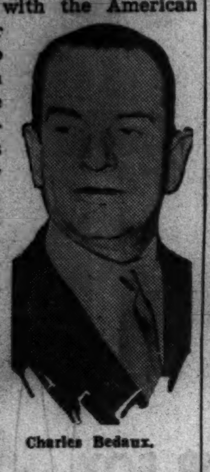
DUKE AS 'PRINCE OF SOCIALISM' BEGINS NEW LIFE

Heads for Berlin to Study Workers.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Emerging from his honeymoon with the American born woman for whom he gave up the British throne, the duke of Windsor tonight was on his way to Germany for a visit which is to be his first step in a new political career of world-wide scope.



Charles Bedaux.

The political plans in which the duchess, the former Mrs. Wallis Warfield [Simpson], and her husband are involved are almost as adventurous as their wedding was romantic. The duke's visit to Berlin deals with preparation of a new campaign of international "social appeasement" which might be termed "princely socialism" and which is akin to National Socialism [Naziism].

Wins Backing in U. S.

The slogan "social appeasement" has been chosen by the duke and his friends and it has met with the sympathy of such men as Thomas J. Watson of New York, president of International Business Machines corporation, who was elected president of the International Chamber of Commerce last June and who greatly pleased the Germans during the congress in Berlin by giving the Nazi salute.

The duke and duchess, Watson and others of their friends discussed the slogan in Hungary while visiting in the Hungarian castle of Charles Bedaux, owner of the castle in France in which the Windsors were married.

The duke's friends hope that peace societies of the world can be induced to indorse the plan of worldwide "social appeasement" which "David and Wally," as these friends like to call the Windsors, will work out.

Housing a Part of Creed.

Coöperation with peace associations of the world, it is believed, will give Windsor sufficient influence to compensate him for the loss of the British throne which he held as Edward VIII.

Adequate housing is one of the basic principles of social appeasement and therefore the ducal couple will concentrate on the study of this problem as the first part of their political program.

Years before the world war, German employers thought to improve the lot of their workers with housing projects. The republic and the Nazis carried on the work and therefore the duke and duchess will find much to study on their officially conducted German tour.

Want to See U. S. Labor Records.

The duke and duchess will go to America early in November. They have an appointment to visit President Roosevelt, but the duke also desires a special invitation from Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins to inspect America's official files and labor investigations, the same as the official invitation from the German Labor Front. To date no official invitation has been received from Secretary Perkins.

After visiting democratic America, the duke and duchess plan to proceed from there to Fascist Italy and later to democratic Sweden, thus dividing their interests between dictator ruled countries and liberal countries.

Since a number of men controling big concerns are interested in the "social appeasement" plans for which Windsor will write pamphlets and books during his trip, the duke's friends believe that he need not worry how the English royal family will take his new venture.

At Odds Over Income.

There are financial disagreements between Edward and his brother, King George VI. of England. English circles assert that the duke settled $3,000,000 on Wally and that his family insisted that he reduce this sum before they pay him additional capital promised. He draws $125,000 yearly for his rights in ancestral castles.

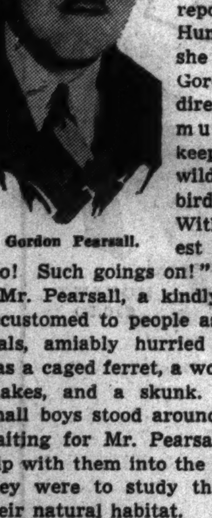
MOTHER BRITANNIA'S CHILDREN

His Politeness Turns Away a Lady's Wrath

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

A little old lady with determination in her eye and rain in her hair entered the Trailside museum, Chicago avenue and Thatcher road, west of River Forest, yesterday.



Gordon Pearsall.

"I'm going to report you to the Humane society," she shrilled to Gordon Pearsall, director of the museum, "for keeping all these wild animals and birds caged up. With all this forest to run in, too! Such goings on!"

Mr. Pearsall, a kindly young man accustomed to people as well as animals, amiably hurried over. There was a caged ferret, a woodchuck, two snakes, and a skunk. A group of small boys stood around. They were waiting for Mr. Pearsall to make a trip with them into the woods, where they were to study the animals in their natural habitat.

They looked on, wide eyed, at this new turn of affairs. There were serious faces among them. . . . Visions of a spoiled Sunday. . . . Their mentor and friend perhaps in jail.

Mr. Pearsall Explains a Bit.

Mr. Pearsall unbuttoned his lether coat. He smiled at the little old lady.

"I'm afraid you don't understand us, madame," he began.

"Look at that squirrel," she broke in. "Poor little thing! It ought to be out gathering its winter supply of food, not caged up here."

"He would have been food—for a 'coon—if we hadn't cared for him," the director said. "We found him eight years ago. We even had to feed him with a medicine dropper to keep him alive. We have nursed every animal here through illness or injury. If we turned them out, they'd refuse to leave, or die. That fat little woodchuck there wouldn't go away if you chased him. He's been free for years."

"It sounds like a lot of hooey to me," announced the little old lady.

Mr. Pearsall was somewhat taken aback, but still smiled.

She's Hard to Please.

"What kind of a story have you got to tell about those birds?" she demanded, pointing to more cages in the museum.

"They're cripples, too," the director told her. "Every one of them. That robin, as you can see, has only one leg. The woodthrush drags his wing. Those seagulls had been shot. We fixed 'em all up. The little gray mourning dove was found in a nest, deserted. It couldn't even eat. We fed it by hand. Now, do you still think we are inhumane?"

She studied a minute.

"Maybe not," she admitted. "Maybe you're all right after all. I guess you are. I guess I talk too much."

The rain had stopped. She was gone.

Boys Aren't Forgotten.

The politeness reporter had about made up her mind. But she wondered about the boys.

"Let's go," said the director to the waiting group of youngsters. With glad cries they seized the cages and made off with them.

"They were supposed to be here yesterday," Pearsall explained. "They pulled up in a truck awhile ago, all full of anticipation, with a 'well, here we are, even if we are a day late.' And, anyway, what's a day off when you can please a bunch of kids?"

So Mr. Pearsall, who is 32 years old, lives at 143 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park, and is unmarried, won THE TRIBUNE's politeness award of $5.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Sir Oswald Mosley, leader of the British Fascists, was knocked unconscious by a stone today when he mounted a radio truck to address a Black Shirt rally in Queen's drive at Liverpool.

A crowd of 8,000, mostly anti-Fascists, attended the meeting which wound up in a riot. Twenty persons were injured. Many arrests were made. Stones, paving bricks, and other missils were used by the rioters. As soon as Mosley stepped onto the truck to speak he became the target of a shower of stones. One struck him in the forehead, making a deep cut over his left eye. He collapsed. Police took him to a nearby hospital.

A bulletin issued by his doctor said the Fascist leader was suffering from "brain concussion and a scalp wound." A minor operation was performed.

Those who attended the second annual Food and Better Housekeeping show at the Coliseum yesterday saw the newest things in culinary art. Food in the making was appetizingly demonstrated. One of the choice morsels, but without many samplers, was shark fin. On the same table with the shark fins were other rare edibles such as pickled eel, duck eggs baked in mud, and shredded bird nests.

Reveal Slain Wife's Loves; Hunt Suitor

The Cragin police were striving to determine last night whether an illicit romance furnished the motive for the slaying early yesterday of Mrs. Caroline Schenke, 37 years old, 2856 North Hamlin avenue.

The body of Mrs. Schenke, who was the mother of a 6 year old boy, was found in an alley in the rear of 2701 North Kildare avenue. She had been beaten to death.

Boasts of Other Sweetheart.

"My wife," he said, "has been keeping company with a man I never met. I did not even know his name. But she boasted of his attentions, and openly taunted me with praises of this man whom she called her 'other sweetheart.' She asked me to give her a divorce, but I refused because she insisted on taking our son Robert with her.

"We had a quarrel Friday night. Caroline wanted me to stay home with the boy. She said she had a date. I told her I wouldn't accommodate her that far. So I went to visit some relatives. When I got home I found she had left the boy with a neighbor and gone out. I suppose she met the fellow she's been going with."

Child Corroborates Story.

Robert, questioned by the police, corroborated his father's story. He said that his mother often went out with another man, but was vague in his description of him.

The place where Mrs. Schenke's body was found is more than a mile from her home. A watchman in a factory near by reported that he had seen a car pass through the alley a few hours before the body was found.

Schenke and the boy were ordered to attend the inquest, which will be held at 4338 Fullerton avenue today.

Kelly Faints When Told He Is Father of Triplets

New York, Oct. 10.—[Special.]—For the first time since the founding of the institution in 1863 triplets were born today at the Lenox Hill hospital. They were born to Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly, 28 years old, Astoria, Queens. Thomas Kelly, the father, who is a motorman, rushed into the hospital shortly after the birth and shouted to the first nurse he saw, "What is it?"

"Triplets," she replied.

"Wow," said Mr. Kelly, as he fainted.

Plays Hand Against Wits of World.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Having scrapped America's traditional isolationist policy, President Roosevelt, it was learned today, is sitting in about the biggest diplomatic poker game that has taken place since the beginning of the world war.

Facing the chancelleries of Europe in this contest of wits the President is personally directing every move on behalf of America. The trans-Atlantic cables and the radio were fairly crackling tonight with the interchanges between the White House and London and Paris.

Great Britain and France have called the President's bluff by proposing that the United States assume the leadership in cracking down on Japan in China while they attend to Mussolini and Hitler in Spain. Whether Mr. Roosevelt will agree to this division of effort in establishing a "quarantine" of world peace disturbers, as he proposed in his Chicago speech, is the outstanding question of the moment in the capitals of the continents.

Up to Neck in Intrigue.

It thus falls out that Uncle Sam suddenly finds himself up to his neck in the whirlpool of European political intrigue from which congress sought to keep him free by the neutrality legislation. The European powers are looking to their own interests first, some of them applauding, some disapproving Mr. Roosevelt's projection of the United States into the mêlée.

England and France, with large commercial interests in China and with neighboring Oriental empires, are eager to stay the victorious march of the Japanese invader but find themselves menaced nearer home by the Fascists in Spain. Their efforts in the forthcoming nine-power conference will be directed to such repression of Japan as does not require them to neglect self-protection in Europe.

Mussolini, on the other hand, will go into the nine-power conference, if he goes in at all, prepared to defend Japan and to defeat the purpose of the undertaking, if possible. Although they are not parties to the nine-power pact, Germany and Russia will be involved in the diplomatic maneuvering. Germany, formally allied with Italy and Japan, will oppose any action designed to thwart Tokio. Russia, Siberian neighbor and congenital enemy of Japan, will line up with Britain, France, and America.

U. S. Aid Sought for Months.

The British and French have been angling for months to obtain the support of the United States for their policies in Spain and more recently in the Far East. Mr. Roosevelt evinced a willingness to coöperate but congress tied his hands, or thought it had, with the neutrality law under which there would be no discrimination between belligerents. By not taking sides, America, congress calculated, would be able to keep out of a war.

Whether it was because he had decided that America must strike a decisive blow against aggression or, as some suspected, had seized upon an opportunity to divert attention from the Black scandal, Mr. Roosevelt acted so precipitately in Chicago that he stole the thunder of the league of nations, which was on the point of denouncing Japan.

Britain and France Joyful.

The British and French received Mr. Roosevelt's pronouncement with satisfaction. They hailed the President as the leader in the move to halt Japan. They wanted Mr. Roosevelt to convoke the nine power conference and hold it in Washington.

The British government took steps to learn how far Mr. Roosevelt is disposed to go in "quarantining" Japan. Would he bring the United States into a concerted economic and financial boycott of Japan? Both Britain and France contended that the United States, being nearest to the scene of the war in Asia, should take charge of the operations against Japan, while they assume the responsibility in Spain.

In some quarters it is believed that Mr. Roosevelt, in his fireside talk Tuesday night, will seek to allay the rising tide of fear that he has embarked on a policy likely to involve the United States in war. Even some members of his cabinet are known to view his course with concern.

ARMS RACE WILL END IN WAR, SAYS MILITARY EXPERT

[Maj. Gen. J. F. C. Fuller, authoritative British military historian, herewith presents his conclusions on the situation in Europe after a tour in which he noted the feverish preparations for war in progress there. Gen. Fuller fought in the South African war from 1899 to 1902 and was chief of staf of the British tank corps in the world war. He has written numerous books and magazine articles dealing with military tactics and the high command of the war. He is the author of analytical articles on the present Spanish war which appeared in The Tribune last spring. One book by Gen. Fuller, "The Generalship of Ulysses S. Grant," terms the American the greatest general of his age and master strategist. Gen. Fuller was placed on the retired list in 1933.]

BY MAJ. GEN. J. F. C. FULLER.

The more I travel about Europe the more convinced am I, so far as the greater nations are concerned, that each is seeking security as well as the accomplishment of its policy under cover of a gigantic bluff. The danger is not that any one of them wants war; but that all are seeking their ends, however antagonistic they may be, by feverish preparations for war, so that, diplomatically, they may coerce one another.

Outwardly there is nothing new in this for fleets and armies, to which now we must add air forces, have always been diplomatic as well as military weapons—that is: weapons which can persuade by threat as well as enforce by blows. Inwardly, since 1918, there has been introduced a factor which is perplexingly novel. What is it? For directly we can pin it down we shall be on the track of this bluff.

1913 Short Sightedness Recalled.

In order to make the answer as clear as possible I will go back a generation in war history. In 1913 the greater powers were so confident they knew all about war that no single one of them expected that the next war, which was then approaching, would be a desperate four years' struggle costing 10 million lives and scores of billions of dollars. All thought that it would be short and sharp; a top speed mobilization; a top speed attack; a great decisive battle, possibly two, and then the hurrahs of victory and the groans of defeat. The sole point in doubt was: who would roar and who would yell?

The Germans were so confident that they did not even bother to keep back a reserve army to meet the unexpected; the French, that logical nation, omitted to equip themselves with heavy artillery, because the war would be too mobile for such weapons; the Russians relied on their inexhaustible man power, the now mythical "steam roller"; whilst the English navy, which for a hundred years has ruled the seven seas, could not help continuing to rule them.

Fair Dream Becomes Nightmare.

Then, in a sorry fortnight, this fair dream was corkscrewed into a nightmare, and before the war ended reserves were raised by the tens of millions; heavy guns were built by

PEIPING, Oct. 10.—(AP)—A desperate Chinese defense held fast today to the line of the Huto river to check the drive of a Japanese army toward Shihchiachuang, vital railway junction in southwestern Hopei province. Three hundred and fifty thousand troops were engaged in the fighting in North China.

Dispatches from the front said the waters of the Huto actually ran red as Chinese machine gunners on the south bank mowed down Japanese troops making repeated attempts to force a passage of the swift current.

The Huto river runs about eight miles north of Shihchiachuang and just south of the recently captured city of Chengting. Shihchiachuang, 175 miles southwest of Peiping, is at the junction of the Peiping-Hankow railway and the narrow gauge line running westward to Taiyuan, capital of Shansi province.

Column Advances from North.

Capture of the junction town, Japanese strategists assert, will facilitate their conquest of Shansi, into which another Japanese column is advancing from the north.

[Domei, Japan's national news agency, in a dispatch to Tokio from Sinlo, on the Peiping-Hankow railway, said the Japanese army had taken Shihchiachuang, but this was not confirmed by other advices from China.]

Japanese army spokesmen indicated the battle for Shihchiachuang has developed into a larger conflict than that which preceded the fall of Paotingfu, capital of Hopei, more than two weeks ago. The Japanese attacking force was estimated at 150,000 men. Opposing them were between 200,000 and 300,000 men.

The resistance was more stubborn than any offered by the Chinese in the north for weeks.

Japanese Are Astonished.

"Something has happened to the Chinese defense," said a high Japanese army officer in Peiping. "Our attacking force is almost the same as that which took Paotingfu, but the numbers of the Chinese have been increased greatly. They are offering much more stubborn and desperate resistance and using more artillery.

"We have found indications that the Chinese may fall back soon, but still they hold on."

After today's fighting the Japanese command was unable to announce decisive gains. The Chinese along the Huto river were said to be making excellent use of sunken concrete pillboxes, from which their machine guns sprayed death all along the river as the invaders sought to cross.

Rain Bombs on Bridges.

The Chinese lines were subjected to air and artillery bombardment by the Japanese, and Japanese planes also rained bombs on bridges of the Peiping-Hankow railway, trying to cut the Chinese lines to the rear.

The Japanese said one detachment had crossed the Huto and taken Chintsun, near the railway, but elsewhere the Chinese lines held. A few Japanese tanks managed a crossing at a shallow point, and for a while ran riot among the Chinese lines. The tanks rammed head on into the concrete pillboxes, but were forced to withdraw when Chinese artillery fire was concentrated on them.

Race to Reach Capital.

The army attacking above Shihchiachuang hoped to reach Taiyuan, the Shansi capital, before the Japanese force in North Shansi, part of Japan's garrison in Manchukuo, can smash its way through the northern passes to reach the city.

The spokesman said the Chinese now were using more airplanes than before, apparently basing them on Taiyuan. He said that the Japanese column advancing into Shantung province along the Tientsin-Pukow railway was approaching the Yellow river, which runs just north of the provincial capital, Tsinan.

Bombardment Shakes Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 11.—[Monday.]—Shanghai was heavily shaken early today when the Japanese armada on the Whangpoo river, at the city's front door, opened a bombardment of Chinese land positions in Pootung, across the river from Shanghai.

The bombardment was carried out in pouring rain. This, however, failed to prevent huge fires in Pootung. The Japanese said the bombardment was in retaliation for Chinese shelling of Hongkew, the Japanese district of Shanghai.

The Nanking high command announced that the eight weeks' battle for Shanghai had cost China 75,000 casualties, including 20,000 killed. However, said a spokesman, China's military leaders "are not alarmed."

A Japanese army spokesman in Shanghai Saturday said the Japanese had picked up the bodies of 57,767 Chinese soldiers in two sectors of the Shanghai front.

British Crew Reaches Safety.

HONGKONG, Oct. 10.—(AP)—A train marked with British flags pulled into Kowloon station here today after a four day trip from Hankow, bringing 222 members of the crew of the British cruiser Capetown and 12 civilians, mostly British missionaries. The Capetown, with a crew of 400 officers and men, was bottled up in the Yangtze river when the Chinese blocked the channels below Nanking. The 222 officers and men were transferred to the Hongkong naval base because supplies were running low and the ship did not need a full crew.

AMERICAN LEGION VISITORS HONOR BRITISH WAR DEAD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The national commander's party of American Legionnaires today performed the first ceremonial of its four day visit to England by placing a wreath on the cenotaph, Great Britain's war memorial in Whitehall, and visiting the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Westminster abbey.

Assembling at the horse guards parade ground and preceded by American Legion standard bearers and 12 standard bearers specially selected from the branches of the British Legion, the legionnaires marched down Whitehall to the cenotaph. Heading the contingent were American Legion National Commander Daniel Doherty and Maj. Gen. Frederick Maurice, president of the British Legion.

The Legionnaires, headed by a band of Irish guards, then marched to Westminster abbey where another wreath was placed on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

CHINESE PROTEST JAP ATTACKS IN CHICAGO PARADE

The Chinese of Chicago, celebrating the 26th anniversary of the founding of the Chinese Republic, held a large parade through Chinatown yesterday in protest against the Japanese invasion of the republic. More than 3,000 Chinese marched from 22d street and Wentworth avenue to a mass meeting in Hardin square, 26th street and Wentworth avenue.

The marchers carried banners in both English and Chinese, denouncing the Japanese attacks and promising financial aid to China from Chinese in this country.

Among the speakers at the meeting was G. H. Wang, acting consul general in Chicago. Gerald Moy headed the committee in charge of the demonstration.

U. S. CHURCHMEN TO STAY IN CHINA AT OWN RISK

New York, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Methodist missionaries will remain in the China war zone at their own risk, said Dr. Ralph E. Diffenderfer, corresponding secretary of the board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, today. He added:

"The missionaries themselves have urged that injuries they may personally receive or possible damage to mission property be not made a cause of war threats or of reprisals. We are in agreement with this attitude, and the state department knows of this action."

Of the 265 Methodist missionaries in China, about 50 of them are in the area of North China now held by the Japanese army.

Windsor Greatly Changed.

Married life has greatly changed Windsor. When formerly he enjoyed his liquor, now he drinks only with special permission of his wife. The first drinks of the day are served toward 6 o'clock in the evening, when the duke has about three. In the daytime he often seems somewhat depressed, but in the evening his old gayety and keenness revive and he discusses international problems with the greatest zeal with industrial leaders.

The first present for the duchess arrived this evening at the hotel at which they will stay. It is a box of chocolates from the chief of Germany's Labor Front, Dr. Robert Ley, and it was addressed to "Her Royal Highness," which caused a frown of disapproval on English brows, as Wally was only officially granted the title of "Her Grace."

BOARD PARIS TRAIN

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 10. — The duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, began his odyssey of sociological investigation tonight when he and his duchess took the Nord express for Berlin. They boarded the train at the North station.

The duke's departure, as he had wished, was virtually unnoticed. Only a small number of travelers recognized the former king in the bareheaded, slim figure which hurried from the duchess' famous blue [1936 model] automobile, accompanied by three plain clothes men, to the train.

The women present exclaimed with admiration when the duchess emerged from the auto clad in a blue tailored suit with blue cape to match. The duchess wore an off-the-face hat, beige stockings and blue walking shoes. She and the duke went immediately into their compartment. The Windsors are traveling light—that is to say, only with a huge heap of handbags and hatboxes.

URGES OIL EMBARGO AS SIMPLE MEANS TO CURB JAPANESE

New York, Oct. 10.—(AP)—An embargo on the oil that "propels the aircraft which bomb the Chinese natives, the submarines which sink the Chinese junks" was proposed today by Herbert Stanley Morrison, veteran leader of the British Labor party, as a simple means of curbing Japanese aggression.

He spoke from London, his speech being rebroadcast to American listeners by the Columbia Broadcasting system.

"The epidemic of lawlessness and war can best be dealt with by putting those who are guilty of it in quarantine," Morrison said. The personal boycott of Japanese goods is not sufficient, he added.

"I am thinking of refusal to accept imported products from Japan and of a refusal to supply Japan the arms, supplies, and raw materials without which war cannot be made," he said. "Oil is an armament requirement, and I believe on moral grounds it should be withheld from aggressors who have violated the law."

BISHOP CHARGES HITLER AIMS TO END CHRISTIANITY

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The blunt charge that the initial aim of Adolph Hitler's Nazi régime is to eradicate Christianity from German life was made by Count Conrad von Preysing-Lichtenegg-Moos, bishop of Berlin, in a pastoral letter read throughout the Berlin diocese in Roman Catholic churches today.

"The campaign against the church is being conducted by stages in order that its final goal, mainly de-Christianization of life, may not become apparent to everybody too soon," the bishop said.

The occasion for the pastoral letter was furnished by the announcement that, henceforth, priests may no longer teach religion in public schools.

CATHOLICS FEAR MUSSOLINI PLANS WAR ON CHURCH

See Hitler Dragging Duce Into Religious Fight.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Under the headline, "Mussolini's Threats Against Catholics," the newspaper Le Temps tonight published a dispatch from its Rome correspondent hinting at the possibility of a serious Fascist onslaught on the church.

Unlike the German Nazis, whose hatred of Catholicism and whose persecution of the church steadily have been growing in intensity, the Italian Fascists in the last five years have maintained excellent relations with the church.

While the church as a whole avoids taking sides in political controversies, the state department at Vatican City usually appears to be closer to Italian foreign policy on vital world issues than to the policy of the league of nations, or at least the dominant anti-Fascist group in the league. The Italian national church likewise is considered to be entirely loyal to the Fascist régime.

First Sign of Rift.

The first sign of a rift was a reference by Premier Mussolini in a recent article in the Popolo d'Italia to what he called "undulating Catholicism." In the article he promised to deal severely with this.

"The question is raised," writes the correspondent of Le Temps, "as to whether in pronouncing these words Il Duce was not aiming higher. For some time it has been noted in Rome that the pope's encyclicals seem to fit in better with a democratic than a Fascist system.

"Furthermore, it is suspected that the Vatican's fight against Hitlerism will end by having direct bearing on Fascist-Vatican relations. The Rome-Berlin axis, it must be remembered, is not just a political tieup, but a cultural one as well, and certain Nazi concepts, which are very similar to Fascist concepts, are attacked by the holy see.

Warning to Vatican Seen.

"Il Duce's words might very easily be a warning to the holy see against the tendency manifested in the recent encyclicals."

The article attracted much attention here and is seen as a likely prelude to very serious developments in Rome. It is believed that the increasingly militant tendency of Italian Fascism and Italy's complete political dependence on Germany inevitably will lead to open war between the church and Fascism.

French Catholics had hoped Mussolini's visit to Berlin would pave the way for a compromise with the church.

A pastoral letter by the bishop of Berlin, Count Conrad von Preysing-Lichtenegg-Moos, concerning the intensification of the government campaign to drive religion out of the schools has definitly dashed this hope. Instead of Mussolini leading Reichsfuehrer Hitler toward a more reasonable attitude with regard to the church, it is now believed here that Mussolini will be dragged intc an anti-religious war on the side of his more powerful German ally.

Italy 'Sympathizes'

Kensuke Horinouchi (above), Japanese vice foreign minister, was given a pledge of Italy's sympathy and support in Japan's "self-defense" war in China, by Giacinto Auriti (below), Italian ambassador to Tokio.

CHINA ASKS ITALY TO CLARIFY HER POSITION IN WAR

SHANGHAI, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Authoritative sources in Nanking today disclosed that the Chinese government has made inquiries in Rome seeking official clarification of Italy's position in the conflict between China and Japan.

Chinese officials refused to discuss Tokio dispatches reporting that Giacinto Auriti, the Italian ambassador, had expressed Italy's approval of Japan's actions in China and promised "general support" of Japan in a conversation with Kensuke Horinouchi, Japanese vice minister.

[In Rome an official said Italy viewed the far eastern conflict "with complete comprehension" of the Japanese purposes.]

Italy is one of the signatories of the nine power treaty guaranteeing China's territorial integrity. The pact may be invoked shortly to consider Japan's invasion of China.

Ashes of 217 Troops Killed in War Welcomed in Japan

OSAKA, Japan, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Thousands of Japanese today solemnly welcomed the ashes of 217 Japanese soldiers, including officers of high rank, killed in the China fighting. Elaborate funerals were planned for many of the dead.

CHINA SHOOTS 2 HIGH OFFICERS FOR 'COWARDICE'

SHANGHAI, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Death and other drastic punishments were decreed today for Chinese army officers who fail to offer "heroic resistance" to the Japanese invaders.

Two high army officers were executed under the new decree which was directed particularly at Chinese defeats in North China.

Maj. Tseng Chang-Hsiang, battalion commander of the 53d North China army, was shot for "cowardice and military blunders" after Japanese forces battered in the walls of Kwohsien in Shansi province. Maj. Liu Ching-Kuei was shot to death when he attempted to flee the battlefield. Gen. Chang Tsu-Chung, former mayor of Tientsin and commander of the 38th division, was among those severely punished for losing ground.

JILTED EX-COED SHOOTS STUDENT AND KILLS SELF

Fires on Him While They Chat in Home.

Shreveport, La., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Jilted by her college student sweetheart, who came home to tell her he had another love, Miss Lois Lewis, 22 years old, was found dead in her home in a fashionable section of the city today.

Police authorities said she shot herself in the chest after wounding Downs Poindexter, 23, a student at the University of Oklahoma. He was struck by bullets in the right hand, shoulder, and cheek.

Calls at Girl's Home.

Poindexter told police he called at the young woman's home to see her before he returned to his studies. He told them he sat down on the davenport with her and chatted for several minutes.

"I told her that I would no longer keep company with her," he stated, according to the police. "At that she got up and went to a bedroom and returned in a few minutes with a revolver in her hand. She began shooting. I was struck. That is all I remember."

Miss Lewis' body was found on the floor of the library. A .38 caliber revolver was found at her side. There were two bullet holes in her chest.

Daughter of Refining Official.

She was the daughter of R. F. Lewis, production superintendent for Gulf Refining company here. She had been a student at the University of Oklahoma for two years, where she met Poindexter. Later she attended business college.

The police did not question Poindexter, a son of R. H. Poindexter, president of the Superior Iron Works, at length owing to his condition. Physicians said he was resting well and while his condition is serious it is not critical.

The other surviving veterans, who were ill and unable to attend, are Isaac M. Adler, 96 years old, 6912 South Shore drive, and George Leady, 91 years old, 5530 Bishop street. Among the speakers at the meeting were Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan and John Dooley, president of the organization.

PREDICTS CHINA WILL CALL TRUCE IF JAPS GIVE LEAD

SINGAPORE, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Dr. H. H. Kung, finance minister of China, arriving here today after a tour of the United States and Europe, said China would "call for an armistice as soon as Japan gives the lead."

Special significance was attached to Dr. Kung's remark because it was made to a Japanese newspaperman representing a local Japanese paper.

More than 1,000 Singapore Chinese singing war songs greeted the finance minister. Representatives of the British government paid their respects to him and he was the dinner guest of the governor of the Straits Settlements.

CUSTODY BATTLE

PATRICIA HEALY.

Thomas Dodd Healy, former assistant United States district attorney, said yesterday he would appear Wednesday before Judge Philip J. Finnegan to press his court fight with his divorced wife, Mrs. Julia Healy Burbank, over custody of their daughter, Patricia, 2 years old.

Custody of the baby was given Mrs. Burbank at the time of their divorce in May, 1936, but the child has been with Mr. Healy and his mother for the last eleven months. A month ago Mrs. Burbank notified her former husband of her marriage to Abraham Burbank of New York and asked that the child be turned over to her.

Healy refused, and filed a petition in Circuit court asking the appointment of a guardian for Patricia so she could remain in Chicago.

"At the time of our divorce," Healy said, "Patricia was only 10 months old. It was natural that she be with her mother. But now the baby has been with us for almost a year. If she is taken to New York I will have no opportunity to see her."

Mrs. Burbank countered with a petition asking that Healy be ordered to give the baby to her.

STATE TO LAUNCH NEW QUIZ INTO ROSS KIDNAPING

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief of the state's attorney's police, said last night that his men would start an intensified search today for Charles S. Ross, who was kidnaped fifteen days ago.

"So far as I know, there has been no ransom note delivered by the kidnapers," the captain said. "There has not been a single clew developed that furnishes a good lead to his whereabouts or the identity of his captors. We are reinvestigating all the details. One guess is that he may have died in the hands of the kidnapers, and I'm inclined to that view now."

Ross, an elderly retired greeting card manufacturer, was abducted in Wolf road near the entrance to the Westward Ho golf course as he was returning to Chicago after a dinner in Sycamore with his former secretary, Miss Florence Freihage.

BIG GRAIN CROPS GIVE PROMISE OF CHEAPER MEATS

Confident Prices Have Passed Year's Peak.

Although the amount of meat produced in the United States last month was the second smallest for any September in 10 years, government statisticians in Washington yesterday advanced the belief that abundant grain crops available for feed would soon result in larger supplies and, as a natural consequence, lower retail meat prices.

Live stock men also were confident the peak of the year's prices has passed. There has been already some leveling off in the direction of more meat for the housewife's dollar. Light pork loins, for instance, were selling at the end of last week for $22 a hundred pounds, wholesale. This was a decline of $3 in seven days and of $11 from the year's high, established three weeks ago.

On the basis of the latest price, pork loins are $1 to $2 a hundred pounds cheaper than they were a year ago and $4 lower than two years ago, when the hog processing tax was in effect.

Hogs and Cattle Lower.

Both hogs and beef cattle were lower at the stockyards, hogs averaging 80 cents a hundred under the week before and steers $1.25 lower. This tended to prove the axiom, long current in the packing industry, that the demand for the amount of meat offered sets the prices of livestock.

Unquestionably the high cost of retail meats in September was due in part to a limited supply of meat animals. The total of beef, pork, lamb, veal, and lard was 923,943,000 pounds. The comparable figure for 1936 was 1,029,053,000 pounds.

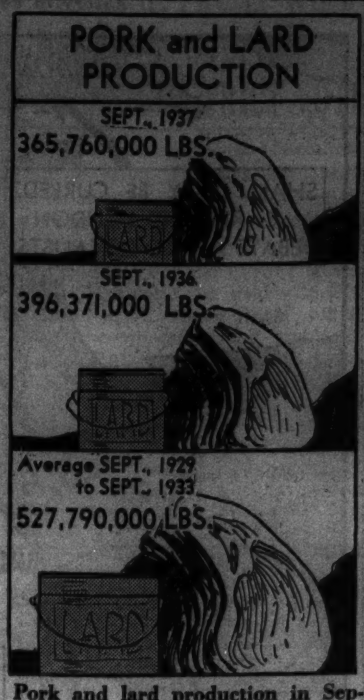
Pork and lard production of the country last month was 365,760,000 pounds. In September, 1936, 396,371,000 pounds were produced. That, too, was a light month. The average pork and lard output in the Septembers from 1929 to 1933 was 527,790,000 pounds.

Better Than 1929, Anyway.

Washington was cheerful about the prospects for lower food prices. Advisers of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace even suggested that the ones we have aren't so bad. They asserted that a basket of food that cost $8.40 last year can be had now for $8.60. In depression years, they said, the basket would have cost $6.67 and, in 1929, $10.90.

They averred that while meats were higher than last year, vegetables are, in general, priced at lower levels. And they found, with their statistics, that the retail price of sirloin steaks recently was 48 cents a pound, compared with 28 cents in the low years. Beef roasts, they estimated, were 25 per cent higher than a year ago. But the new and abundant corn crop, they held, will mean more well finished cattle and hogs—and the lowering of meat prices through abundant supplies.

Why Pork Is High



Pork and lard production in September of this year declined to the point that prices have gone higher and higher. The average production for the years 1929 to 1933, when meat prices reached lowest levels, is shown, with the rise since then.

Fair and somewhat warmer weather was predicted for today by the government weather bureau last night, assuring a delay for the time being of typical autumnal crispness. Tomorrow, too, is likely to be fair.

In spite of the absence of snappy weather, nature in the Chicago area has assumed a definite fall complexion. Leaves began changing color last week, and yesterday the coloring was noticeably brilliant.

This is particularly true in the outlying districts, especially the forest preserves, where nature stands by itself, away from the city motif. The ground is thick with leaf beds, the oak leaves are deep red, and the maple leaves yellow and orange.

COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN TO BE OPENED TONIGHT

The Community Fund campaign of 1937 will be opened tonight at a mass meeting of workers in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. The ceremony will mark the first steps this year to raise $3,550,000 to meet the requirements of the 177 major organized social and welfare agencies of the city. Gen. Robert E. Wood, campaign chairman, will preside at the meeting.

The actual drive will start tomorrow morning, when the soliciting organization of 2,000 enlisted volunteers will begin its appeal to all gainfully employed Chicagoans. The campaign is to continue for ten weeks.

Seeks to Prevent Conflict Over "Volunteers."

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The British and the French are confronted with a showdown on the attitude of Premier Mussolini of Italy during the coming week.

What interests European diplomats chiefly is the extent to which the British Tory government is going to back up the demands of its ally, the French, urged on by the leftists, to take stern action in regard to the question of foreign "volunteers" in Spain.

Indications are that the British do not feel strong enough to crack down on Il Duce yet, and will counsel their friends, the French, not to get too hot under the collar for a few more months even if Il Duce sends notes mocking at Anglo-French solidarity.

All the aspects and implications of Italy's detailed refusal to discuss with Britain and France means of making nonintervention in Spain really effective are being considered carefully in London and Paris.

Study Facts on Spain.

Members of the British cabinet have been supplied with an exhaustive resumé of the known facts concerning the situation in Spain. This has been drawn by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. It sets forth facts, draws conclusions and indicates choices of action now confronting both France and Britain.

Thus when the cabinet meets Wednesday, its members will be able to estimate the latest developments in the light of full, summarized information collected from all the sources available.

While the conciliatory tone of the Italian note, which was received yesterday and which turned down a Franco-British invitation to attend a three power parley on the Spanish question, is recognized, the British government regards its substance as negative and unconstructive. The British consider that the note holds no prospect of an early lessening of tension in the Mediterranean.

Puzzled by Libyan Moves.

In British official circles the stern tone adopted by Yvon Delbos, French foreign minister, in the statement which he made last night after the French government's first examination of the Italian note, is being studied closely. An official spokesman said tonight that Great Britain recognizes that the security of France's north to south communication line across the Mediterranean areas is as vital to her as those from east to west are to Britain.

In this connection, London is waiting with interest to learn what are the international considerations which, according to an official communique from Rome, have led Mussolini substantially to reinforce the already considerable Italian garrison in Libya. Statements made in the course of an announcement Friday were directed to assure the Egyptian government that no threat to that country is intended.

Further exchanges of views between London and Paris will take place tomorrow and Tuesday. As a result the British cabinet should be in a position to decide what backing to give the measures which France has in mind to take if Italian intervention in Spain is carried to greater lengths.

Il Duce Quizzes General.

ROME, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Gen. Ettore Bastico, one of the twelve Italian generals named recently as fighting for the rebels in the Spanish civil war, conferred today with Premier Mussolini.

The nature of their conversation was not disclosed, but their meeting coincided with reports that Italy is planning to throw tremendous force behind rebe' Gen. Francisco Franco's cause and speedily crush government opposition.

Such reports have been flatly denied by Italian officials, who attributed them to soviet Russian propaganda designed to involve Italy in a world conflict.

The latest such report—that several classes of Italian reserves are being called to the colors for Spanish service—was ridiculed by officials. They said such a mobilization could hardly be carried through without being noticed, since it would involve several hundred thousand men.

Praised for War Service.

Gen. Bastico was among the twelve generals praised in a dispatch in the authoritative Giornale d'Italia for their "large part" in the capture of Santander and their capabilities demonstrated in the successful rebel campaign against the government in the northern Spanish sectors.

Gen. Bastico saw his first war service as a balloon observer in the Italo-Turkish conflict in 1912. He commanded a Bersaglieri unit as a major and later as a colonel in the world war. He became a general in 1932 and later was made commander of a division in Ethiopia.

FACE SHOWDOWN WITH ITALY

(Story in adjoining column.)

France and Britain yesterday studied what steps to take in view of Italy's refusal to join a three power conference on withdrawal of "volunteers" from Spain. The French are holding as a last resort the opening of the frontier to passage of arms and men to aid loyalist Spain. The map shows passes in the Pyrenees mountains which might be routes of supplies. Spanish rebels and loyalists are fighting fiercely for control of the Saragossa-Jaca railway which leads to France.

GOEBBELS OPENS NEW POLITICAL CHURCH FOR HITLER'S FOLLOWERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, today opened the new Nazi arena in Bad Segeberg and pleaded that the center be made "the political church of national socialism [Naziism]."

"May truly German men and women always congregate here in the spirit of Der Fuehrer [Adolf Hitler] to commune with his teachings and to pledge themselves to his work," he added.

Goebbels mentioned strife between the Protestant church and the government.

"We are not harming the church," he said. "On the contrary we are assuming part of the work it should do. The people say they want Christianity of action and they see it embodied better in our winter relief than in theological discussion of the so-called Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] front. We feel we are the political guardians of the souls of our people."

Mt. Vesuvius Erupts; Sky Is Illuminated for Miles

NAPLES, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Mount Vesuvius erupted tonight, illuminating the Neapolitan sky for miles around, and unloosed a stream of lava within the crater. The volcanic activity caused no damage or alarm.

BOY DIES OF CROSSING INJURIES.

Newark, O., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Dwight Frazier, 11, died today from injuries incurred when a B. & O. passenger train struck and demolished the automobile in which he, his sister Helen, 3, brother Charles, 14, and the parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Frazier, were riding at Stevens street crossing yesterday. Doctors say Helen cannot survive.

SPANISH REBELS HURL FOES BACK ON ARAGON FRONT

Protect Grip on Railway Line to France.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Dispatches from the northern Aragon battle area today said the Spanish rebels in severe fighting east of Sabinanigo advanced more than three miles and forced the government to move back artillery which had been shelling Sabinanigo, 12 miles southeast of Jaca.

Arrows point to Cangas de Onis, captured by Spanish rebels, and Sabinanigo where rebels made gains.

The troops of Gen. Francisco Franco were said to have suddenly sprinted across a narrow "no man's land" and hurled themselves into government trenches, where hand-to-hand fighting ensued.

At the end of the battle the rebels claimed possession of a strategic hill dominating the village of Yerba and the Besa valley. They said the government was forced to move its batteries back and abandon the shelling of Sabinanigo.

Capture Cangas de Onis.

It was in the Sabinanigo sector that the government recently had been reporting substantial advances in an offensive aimed at Jaca, rebel strong point close to the French border in northeast Spain. The government had announced the capture of 15 towns in the area and an advance of about 15 miles, as well as the cutting of railroads to France in the upper Aragon sector.

A rebel communique announced Franco's troops had smashed through Asturian "iron ring" defenses and captured Cangas de Onis, strategic town less than 30 miles southeast of Gijon, in northern Spain.

A number of small villages were said also to have fallen before the rebel advance and the Asturian lines were driven back to the Sella river.

Attack from Three Directions.

The rebel attack on Cangas de Onis was from three directions, troops even bearing down on it from the Ribadesella coastal area. On the Leon front, directly south of Oviedo, three other columns of rebels drove government troops from Vergarada pass just inside Asturias province.

Wave on wave of rebel infantry stormed government trenches defending Cangas de Onis, facing deadly machine gun fire on every assault. Rebel warplanes dumped tons of high explosives on the government lines.

Refugees reaching Pauillac, French port near Bordeaux, told of virtual starvation conditions in Gijon. They declared the city, crowded with refugees and soldiers, would soon be forced to surrender because of the food shortage.

About 1,500 war-torn civilians were brought from Gijon on the British freighter Stangrove. Many of them were taken afterward to Bordeaux.

A rebel broadcast from Salamanca said four government planes attempting to bomb Palma, Island of Mallorca, were shot down by rebel pursuit ships.

Slain with Knife in Cafe as Others Sing and Dance

New York, Oct. 10.—(AP)—In a little waterfront cabaret, the song of an entertainer was cut short early today by the scream of a dying man. Guigleamo Diaz, 36, fell to the floor, stab wounds on his face and in his heart. The killer escaped. Spectators said Diaz had sought to dance with a woman in another party.

U. S. Is No Police Chief for World, Says Reynolds

The United States has no business setting itself up as chief of police of the world and meddling into other people's affairs. So declared United States Senator Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina here yesterday. Senator Reynolds, who is grand commander of the legion of the Loyal Order of Moose, spoke before members of the Greater Chicago Lodge No. 3 of Moose. He declared that Americans are 100 per cent against war.

SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

Military Historian Gives Analysis of Perils.

the thousands; Russia went up in revolution, and the English fleet was for years on end bottled up like a rat in its hole.

The shock was stunning, especially the moral shock; for every nation from root to twig had miscalculated war. The war they had fought, had won or lost, was not the war they had prepared for, or understood, or expected; it was not even a dream; instead it was a crazy delirium. Had not that stolid soldier, Lord Kitchener, said: "I don't know what is to be done; this isn't war!"

Fail to Learn by Experience.

After such a painful eye-opener as the years 1914-'18 proved themselves to be it might be thought that, once that topsy-turvy conflict had ended all the nations would at least have learned the lesson that a war with twentieth century weapons cannot be fought on eighteenth century lines. But no, the general staff and the politicians had learned nothing, and once Germany and her former allies were well bunkered in the shifty sands of the peace treaties, back they went to 1913 and beyond; for in the ten years which separate the Washington from the Geneva disarmament conference they thundered anathema on anathema against the newer weapons: gas, the submarine, the tank, and the war plane.

Though it is true that, soon after the war, the U. S. S. R. showed an inclination towards military modernization, all ran fairly smoothly until the last mentioned conference was held, when the thieves of peace, gathering together in their Swiss kitchen not to disarm but to keep Germany from rearming, knocked the kettle over. Then all went wrong. At the time I predicted that the hypocrisy then indulged in would lead to no other end than a general rearming. So it happened, for since 1932 there has been a frantic arms race.

What Will Next War Be?

Each nation knows exactly what it wants: everything, old and new, so as to be on the safe side. And though some know, or think they know, the powers of the individual weapons they are making, not a single one has the foggiest idea of what the product of these separate powers is when they are multiplied together. So it comes about that whilst in 1913 they were certain what the next war would be like; today, in 1937, they have not the faintest notion.

Will it be a long war, a medium war, or a short war? Will it be won on the land or the sea or in the air? . . . Blank! Even as regards individual arms and weapons, all is in doubt. Will infantry be wiped out by gas; tanks by anti tank weapons; battleships by airplanes; civil will by air attack, and government by civil will?

Nobody knows. Like Hannibal's elephants at the battle of Zama, what will the damned things do? Will they rush backward or charge forward? It makes all the difference: In that case they went back before Scipio's trumpets, and Carthage was scratched off the list of the great nations in 202 B. C.

The doubt is so overwhelming that nations are now afraid to declare war: e. g., Italy and Japan; for once a war is declared, a war is in being; but if it be undeclared and things go wrong, the aggressor can always wriggle out.

This doubt as to what is going to happen when the war machines are set in motion is so overwhelming that, though bluster and bluff are in daily diplomatic use, directly the bluffer or bully reaches the edge of the precipice of war and glances over it, what does he see? A bottomless abyss with an immense query mark dimly glowing in its nether gloom—a plunge without a parachute. It makes him squirm all over.

All nations so profoundly fear war that no one will face it except against a half armed enemy, but, paradox though it is, all are preparing to wage war against each other. From what I have seen in Europe, this is so certain that I am convinced none of the old pretexts of war will detonate the next one and so set in motion the Frankenstein monster all are so feverishly building. Shooting each other's nationals, let alone a decayed archduke, means nothing nowadays.

Italy invades Abyssinia and the league ceases buying her tomatoes; whilst submarines run riot in the Mediterranean, Albania is called to a conference and doesn't even answer the call! On the face of it, it looks as if the bluff will never be called; because, if called, some one might pull a gun, and pulling guns isn't poker, and defeat means revolution.

Nevertheless, I am certain that one day this bluff will be called; not by any nation in particular, but by the Frankenstein monster in general—that thing of metal, oil, gas, and high explosives; that thing which can creep and plunge and soar. It and it alone, soulless and unthinking, will call the hand and so let loose the dogs of war.

As to how this will happen there can be little doubt, for the Beast has us already by the throat: Let the reader pause and think calmly.

What is being accomplished by rearmament? . . . Security? No! Not because it could not, for it might; but because no nation as yet realizes what sucurity means and requires. Yet rearmament has and is definitly accomplishing something: It is thoroughly solving the European unemployment problem that today in most countries there is an actual shortage of skilled man-power. The present wave of world prosperity is literally buttressed up by big guns. Remove them and what will happen? Its golden crest will topple over, liquify, and roar up the shoreline of worldwide slump, throwing upon it the wrack of countless unemployed.

Cites Situation in England.

This is no dramatic flight of imagination; this is a fact. Take my own country, and naturally I know it best. During the next three years England is going to spend $7,500,000,000 on rearming, the greater part of which will be paid out in wages. Though these wages will stimulate the production of vast quantities of consumable commodities, the products—weapons—which they are paid out for, can only be consumed in war. As this is so, a day will come when sufficient weapons have been made, and to go on making more will be sheer foolishness.

Yet if weapon production is stopped or only checked, hundreds of thousands of workers will be thrown out of work, and hundreds of businesses now thriving on their wages will put up their shutters; that means internal revolution! Yet if weapon production is continued, then the immense surplus of weapons created will have to be consumed, and consumption means external war.

Reader, have you got me? It is the Frankenstein monster which is going to call the bluff. Our prosperity is buttressed up by guns. Kick them away and we shall explode inwardly. Don't kick them away and one day we shall explode outwardly.

In either case the artificial prosperity now being created will be blown to smithereens. Which way it wil be I do not pretend to know; but from what I have seen of Europe during the last four years I do know this: The Metallic Beast of Europe's own engendering has got her by the throat.

Turkish Army, Navy Stage Secret 'War' to Test Power

ISTANBUL, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Secret maneuvers of the Turkish army and navy designed to test defenses along the Aegean sea were carried out today in the presence of President Kemal Ataturk. Foreign military attachés and newspaper men were barred. Simulated hostilities opened when "blue" forces attacked Smyrna [Izmir]. The attack extended along the Aegean to Kushadasi. It was supported by warship fire. The air force included American made bombers.

SPEED EXCHANGE, MRS. DAHL URGES VALENCIA REGIME

PARIS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Blonde Edith Dahl arrived in Paris tonight to ask the Spanish government embassy to exchange a rebel prisoner held by the government for her American aviator husband held by the rebels after reprieve from a death sentence.

Awaiting her was a message from her husband, Harold E. Dahl, saying that Gen. Francisco Franco had granted Mrs. Dahl permission to fly to Spain if she wished.

"What is worrying me now is whether Harold might be free to leave when I get there or whether it would only mean I would be with him in Spain," she said.

[Salamanca dispatches said Dahl had been transferred to a military hospital on parole pending arrangement of a prisoner exchange.]

POPULAR FRONT WINS RENEWED SUPPORT IN FRENCH DISTRICT VOTE

PARIS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Incomplete returns from France's nation-wide cantonal elections tonight led officials of Premier Camille Chautemps' office to interpret the vote as approval of the present Popular Front government. Returns from nearly half the districts choosing local officials showed communists had maintained a representation proportionate with their 1936 vote, while Socialists gained slightly and Radical Socialists, third important element in the Popular Front, had sustained slight losses. Many districts, however, will have run-off elections next Sunday since no candidate received a clear majority.

SPANISH VESSEL IS DESTROYED BY WARSHIP ATTACK

BONE, Algeria, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The Spanish government freighter Cabo Santo Tome was set afire and blown up off the Algerian coast today in an attack by two unidentified destroyers.

Survivors said the destroyers shelled the freighter intermittently for an hour. She caught fire and as she burned was run aground off Cape Rosa. One of her crew was killed and six wounded. Fishing smacks picked up the crew after they had abandoned their blazing vessel.

The freighter encountered the destroyers early in the morning about forty-five miles off the Algerian coast.

2 ADMIT POLICE SLAYING AS THIRD DIES OF WOUNDS

Confessions Solve Double Killing in 1933.

Edward Moorehead, 28 years old, convict who escaped from the honor farm at Stateville prison on Thursday, died of bullet wounds last night in the Bridewell hospital as prosecutors were preparing to ask him to confess his part in the murder of Policeman John Skopec and Elmer Ostling in 1933.

Moorehead, who was accompanied in his flight from prison by two other convicts, James Pogue, 28 years old, and William Hanley, 37 years old, was shot down late Friday when he drew a gun as policemen who surrounded the trio in the home of a relative of Hanley at 1806 West 22d place. The other two surrendered without a fight.

Pogue and Turriana Confess.

Pogue, a short time after his capture, confessed that he, Moorehead, and Samuel Turriano, 22 years old, 4314 Van Buren street, a parolee, were the killers of the two policemen. Last night, about the time Moorehead was dying, Turriano added his confession to that of Pogue. So forthright were their declarations of their own guilt that Prosecutors Emmet Moynihan and John S. Boyle asserted they would demand the death penalty for both.

Hanley, who had no part in the slaying of the policemen, was sent back to Stateville to get the usual punishment of a convict who flees and is recaptured.

Give Details of Killing.

The story of the killing of the two policemen, as told by Turriano and Pogue was substantially as follows:

Turriano, Moorhead, and Pogue, in an automobile, started out on a robbery expedition on July 22, 1933. They had halted in front of 2838 Washington boulevard when Skopek and Ostling approached. Youngest and most nervous of the trio, Turriano thrust his pistol under the seat of the car and tried to get away.

He was seized by Policeman Ostling. Policeman Skopek walked toward the other men. Without warning Moorehead and Pogue began shooting. The policemen were felled. So was Turriano. A bullet from Pogue's pistol struck him in the chest. He asserted the belief that the bullet which struck him had already passed through the body of Ostling.

Get Medical Aid.

Putting their wounded companion into the car with them, Pogue and Moorehead drove to the saloon of Henry McKenty at 3325 Irving Park boulevard, where they enlisted the aid of McKenty in getting medical aid for Turriano. They were directed to Dr. Harold Cassiday, physician who lifted the face of the late John Dillinger. [Dr. Cassiday and McKenty corroborated this; McKenty said he had guaranteed the doctor's fee and that it was taken out later in drinks.]

Turriano recovered. About a year later he and Moorehead were arrested for a robbery and were found guilty. Moorehead, as the older, was sent to Stateville. Turriano was sentenced to Pontiac. Parole is swifter there, and he was released last year. He has since been a model parolee, always returning home by 9 p. m. and striving to avoid attracting notice. Pogue also was sent to Stateville for a different robbery and there renewed his old friendship with Moorehead.

Decide to Break for Freedom.

News that they were suspected of killing the policemen was carried to them ten days ago by another convict, a recent arrival from Chicago. They decided that it would be better to break for freedom than to await parole, seizure at the prison door and almost certain conviction. Hanley went along because he was invited.

So the confessions went. Capt. Daniel Gilbert, head of the state's attorney's police force, said that his men had suspected Turriano and Moorehead of the double killing, but that Pogue's part in the crime was not known until he bared his own guilt. Capt. Gilbert and the prosecutors felt, they said, that Turriano and Pogue were building up an ironclad case against themselves. They are being held without formal charges while corroborative evidence is being sought.

ACCUSED IN POLICE SLAYING

Left to right: James Pogue, Edward Moorehead, who died in Bridewell hospital last night, and Sam Turriano, accused of the murder in 1933 of two Chicago policemen. Pogue, who escaped from the Stateville prison honor farm with Moorehead and another prisoner, and Turriano, a parolee, have confessed. Moorehead was wounded when he was recaptured.

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Fatalities from the terrific windstorm which wrecked the town of Santa Maria mounted today to 20. More than 100 persons were injured. The mayor asked the state assembly for a special first aid credit. The windstorm hit Santa Maria yesterday, tearing down homes and buildings and disrupting communications.

VAN NUYS' FOES REVEAL DETAILS OF 'WAR CHEST'

More than 5,500 on List of Contributors.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Apparently in an effort to impress any stragglers who are still inclined to champion renomination next spring of United States Senator Frederick Van Nuys, the statehouse faction of the Indiana Democratic party here today unexpectedly revealed some details regarding its huge "war chest." More than 5,500 contribute, it was revealed.

Marked for Execution Block.

Van Nuys, although an Indianapolis Democrat, has been marked for the execution block because he dared to oppose President Roosevelt's court packing plan. Undaunted by the reprisal edict of Gov. M. Clifford Townsend and other young radicals, Van Nuys is quietly continuing plans to run for the senate again, whether or not the state convention nominates him next spring.

When the Democrats returned to power in Indiana in 1933 after a long succession of Republican administrations, they promptly formed what they termed the Indiana Democratic club. It soon became known, however, as "The 2 Per Cent club," for it levied 2 per cent on the salary of every state employé for a factional slush fund. If the employé didn't pay up he lost his job. No records were kept, no reports of "contributions" were filed.

Democrats Are Worried.

The threat of Van Nuys to run as an independent if necessary and the new life among the Republicans seems to be worrying the statehouse Democrats. Although the 1937 legislature actually passed a law of doubtful constitutionality specifically exempting the "2 Per Cent club" from provisions of the corrupt practices act, a financial statement was suddenly issued today.

According to Bowman Elder, long one of the powers at the statehouse and the "club's" perpetual treasurer, it collects at least $100,000 annually from state employés. Between 5,500 and 5,700 contribute. Merit system employés such as those of the state welfare department and state police corps, "aren't required to join, but many of them do," it is explained.

CONFESSES RAPE OF CHILD, 10, IN EMPTY HOUSE

Columbus, O., Oct. 10.—(AP)—A suspect, 21 years old, tonight confessed kidnaping and raping Betty Jane Rush, 10.

The girl, still frightened and distrait, told police she escaped after being held captive for more than six hours in an untenanted house.

The suspect was captured early today by Dr. A. E. Vaughn in the doctor's apartment near the scene of the kidnaping. Taken to the city jail, the captive said he had broken into the house.

The girl's brother, Billy, 11, was unable to identify the suspect as the man who kidnaped his sister. Betty, now under a physician's care, will view the suspect as soon as she is able.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Oct. 10.—More than 2,000 Nicaraguans have returned from Honduras because of the recent boundary dispute. Nicaraguans believe the repatriation will help the labor shortage now existing in Nicaragua. Officials here still believe the dispute with Honduras can be settled amicably.

TWO OF 3 YOUTHS SEIZED IN TAVERN KILLING CONFESS

Following the arrest of three colored youths last night, Warren avenue police announced the solution of the murder of Samuel Speredes, 44 years old, a tavern owner, who was shot by bandits in his place of business at 1307 Roosevelt road on Sept. 18. Police said they also hope to clear up 200 robberies through the arrests.

The prisoners are Mancer Oliver, alias Stevens, 19 years old, 250 North Campbell avenue, Jack Woods, 19, of 250 North Fairfield avenue, and William Campbell, 26, of 2139 Maypole avenue. Oliver and Woods confessed, police said, the former admitting he killed Speredes. All three were identified, however, by John Speredes, son of the murder victim, who was also wounded.

Oliver, Woods, and Campbell were arrested by Detectives Robert Scanlan, James Slattery, Cornelius Cronin, and Thomas Cassidy.

Disillusioned, They Frown on Federal Curb.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Florence, Ala., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—An air of disillusionment with the Tennessee Valley authority and its 520 million dollar project in water power and social economic planning seems to prevade the cities around Muscle Shoals, Florence, Tuscumbia, and Sheffield. There is a growing fear that they are being frozen out of Utopia, when and if it comes. Regimentation is beginning to appear and some citizens complain of the taste.

Ground of the complaint is that the cities find their hands tied in trying to bring in new industries with cheap power inducements. The three towns have gone municipal ownership. Florence and Tuscumbia have bought distributing plants of the Alabama Power company and are taking TVA current while Sheffield is building a new municipal plant.

The TVA, however, controls the rates at which the cities are to sell the current. Residential consumers are given rates about half those paid by average domestic users in other regions—this for the TVA objective of a fully electrified home.

City Pleads for Chance.

To outside industries, however, the industrial rates of the municipal plants are not so much of an allurement it appears and a few months ago the local chamber of commerce besought the TVA to give Florence a chance to quote electric rates to prospective industries on the same scale as those given to some large consumers in Tennessee, especially the Aluminum Company of America.

The rebuff given by the TVA when private citizens began writing to their congressmen cased soreness of spirit. In Florence one catch phrase is "If it hadn't been for us there would have been no TVA." But rarely has criticism in a town been more muzzled. The traveler here talks with men who in confidence rip into the paternalism of the TVA. They roar about "dictatorship" and "discrimination" but invariably wind up with "But don't mention my name. I am in business here and can't start a war with TVA."

The protest one hears is that Alabama furnishes most of the water power in the Tennessee river, but Tennessee gets the juice, the contracts, and the industrial pay rolls.

Wilson Dam Plant Largest.

Wilson dam dominates the river here at Muscle Shoals. It is the largets power plant of the TVA. A few miles upstream is Wheeler dam, second largest kilowatt producer of the three dams at present in operation by the authority. Norris dam, the third, is near Knoxville, Tenn. The Guntersville dam is being built in Alabama, while much of the Pickwick reservoir also will lie in this state.

According to the hearings in congress last April the ultimate power installation of the TVA project is figured at 1,878,000 kilowatts. Of this about 900,000 kilowatts, or approximately one-half, will originate in Alabama. The tables in these hearings, however, show that of all energy sales to existing customers, 45 per cent goes to Tennessee and about 10 per cent to Alabama.

City Starts Ball Rolling.

Early this year the Florence Chamber of Commerce wrote the TVA calling attention to the part of the city played in keeping the agitation alive for government operation of Muscle Shoals. Years ago, after the war, it was instrumental in getting Henry Ford to make his offer for the plant. Later is spent $30,000 in lobbying at Washington to get the Wilson dam completed and this dam is the nucleus of TVA.

The letter called attention to the loss of tax values through the flooding of some of the best lands in Lauderdale county and said no new industries had come in to get cheaper power. The TVA had an industrial rate known as C-1, an especially low one under which the Aluminum company contract in Tennessee was granted.

At the time the Florence chamber was trying to interest the Midwest Carbide company of Keokuk, Ia., and the du Pont company in putting up plants here to be served under the C-1 rates. Afterwards it appeared that a TVA agent met representatives of the Midwest company without knowledge of the chamber of commerce.

Turned Down by TVA.

This brought a protest by the chamber deploring this as a violation of confidence and an intimation that the TVA was trying to grab prospects lined up by Florence. The upshot was refusal by TVA to permit municipalities to quote the C-1 rate and the declaration that the rate had been abolished.

Nothing daunted, the Florence chamber took it up with Senators Bankhead and Black and some of the congressmen. This action, usual though it is, brought a letter of reproach from a TVA official saying the appeal to congressmen had led the authority to put him on the carpet and intimating that to go over heads of TVA and ask Washington for aid was bad business for all concerned.

Emissaries came to town, so business men aver, and spread word that unless Florence "coöperated" with TVA injury might be worked to both sides. This pressure started a wave of pro-TVA talk. The sequel was the resignation of Lee Glenn, former mayor, as president of the chamber of commerce and the executive secretary was discharged.

Sold Direct by TVA.

Recently the TVA has announced a contract with the Electro Metallurgical company, a subsidiary of Union Carbide and Carbon company, to buy a large block of power for use at a new plant near Wilson dam. Criticism here, however, is that this plant will employ only 400 or 500 men. The power is sold direct by TVA instead of through the municipal plant.

The Muscle Shoals cities of about 25,000 population when TVA started, had been dreaming of great industrial expansion with much diversity of factories and increased pay rolls.

Another complaint has been that main TVA headquarters are at Knoxville though the law designates Muscle Shoals. Now some of the citizens say they begin to see what all the talk about an ordered society and economy means, for TVA can determine where industries shall locate and communities developed by controling the power rates.

Said one established citizen today: "If it hadn't been for us there would have been no TVA and now we get a dictatorship. And we get cheap subsidized electricity for our homes That's fine, but every time my missus fries my bacon and eggs you fellows in Chicago and Kalamazoo, and Oshkosh pay for part of the electric juice."

OPPOSE 'LITTLE TVA'S'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Publication of hearings held by the house committee on rivers and harbors today revealed that President Roosevelt's plan to create seven TVAs to preserve and develop natural resources throughout the country is opposed by almost every interested department of the government.

The position of the departments was revealed in letters to Chairman Joseph J. Mansfield [D., Tex.] of the house committee. The committee asked facts and opinions before arriving at a conclusion on the bill which Mr. Roosevelt wants pressed at the special session of congress he may call on November.

Sponsored by Norris.

The bill was introduced by Senator George W. Norris [radical, Neb.] and first went to a senate subcommittee. The group announced its unqualified support of the bill even before hearings were concluded, and no sounding out of interested departments was attempted.

In the house hearings a storm of protest was raised against the delegation of authority, similar to that enjoyed by the TVA, to seven additional regional units. This criticism brought a defense from President Roosevelt of his regionalizational plan during his western tour.

Charges Duplication.

In the published hearings the department of agriculture took the hide off the authority idea, saying that "it would permit and seems even to propose duplication by the conservation authorities of a large part of the work of the department of agriculture."

The treasury department objected to construction, operation, and maintenance of sewage and industrial waste disposal plants by federal authorities working "independent of and not subject to health laws of the respective states."

The department of justice "preferred" not to offer any suggestion. The department of labor reported "no specialized knowledge" of flood control and conservation.

EYES ON COURT AS BLACK CASE COMES TO TEST

President May Talk of It to U. S. Tuesday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Another record breaking crowd is expected at the Supreme court tomorrow to witness the court's disposition of the petitions challenging the eligibility of Justice Hugo L. Black to his office.

The court will announce whether it will hear arguments on the petitions or will refuse to entertain the motions on the ground of lack of jurisdiction.

In the meantime the White House again has become the center of interest in the Black affair. The President still maintains his silence on the revelation of Justice Black's membership in the Ku Klux Klan, though he had intimated he might have something to say after Mr. Black had an opportunity to answer the charges. Many are wondering if Mr. Roosevelt will take the opportunity at his fireside talk Tuesday night to explain his position.

Appears to Condone It.

As matters now stand the President by his silence appears to be condoning both Black's membership in the klan and Black's dodging of the question when his friends won confirmation of his appointment on assurances that he never belonged to the hooded order.

The petitions before the court, presented by former Judge Albert Levitt and Patrick Henry Kelly, contend that Black was ineligible to the appointment under the constitution because he was a senator at the time of the passage of the Sumners act increasing the emoluments of retired justices. They also contend that the retirement of Justice Van Devanter did not create a vacancy, since he is still a member of the court subject to recall to duty.

Many other questions will be passed upon by the court tomorrow or considered in the next few weeks. In some labor relations cases the court is asked to determine whether the labor board may hold hearings on charges of unfair practices at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company and one of the yards of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding company.

Gold Cases Up Again.

In the gold cases, Arthur Machen of Baltimore wants the treasury to pay interest on a Liberty bond called for redemption before the maturity date, and Charles Ogden of Indianapolis demands redemptions of his bonds in gold according to the clause written on them. The court has already agreed to review gold policy suits brought by Robert A. Taft, son of the former President and chief justice.

Attacks on regulation of grain trading come from the Chicago Mercantile Exchange and the Chicago and Kansas City Boards of Trade, which challenge the commodity exchange act, outgrowth of the old grain futures law.

A test of the provisions of the Securities Act of 1933 is brought by Charles Martin of Indiana, who wishes to recover damages from directors of a distilling company, his investments being induced, he asserts, through alleged untruths in the registration statement.

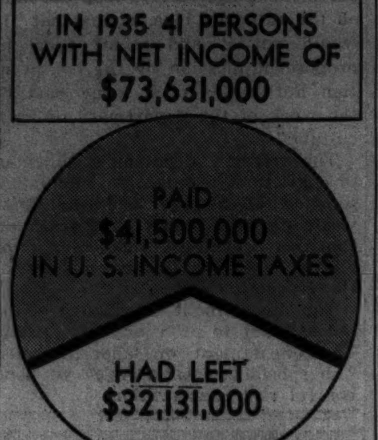
Millionaire's Tax

(Story in adjoining column.)



This chart shows the amount of income tax paid into the federal treasury by those whose incomes were $1,000,000 or more in 1935.

ARREST BOY, 14, ON CHARGE OF SEIZING WOMAN

Daniel Dadabo, 14 years old, 1350 South Ashland avenue, was seized last night and turned over to police for attempting to molest a young married woman. She is Mrs. William Jansick, 19, of 806 South Ashland avenue. As she was walking under a viaduct in Wolcott avenue near 16th street young Dadabo seized her. Her screams attracted Donald Savage, an engineer for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, who grabbed the boy, and he admitted seizing the woman, police said.

41 MILLIONAIRE INCOMES IN '35; 1929 TOTAL 513

7 Make Between 3 and 4 Million Dollars.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—(AP)—One person in every 3,100,000 rolled up an income of $1,000,000 or more during 1935, the treasury reported today.

The report said there were 41 millionaire incomes in 1935, compared with 33 in 1934. In the latter year, incomes of a million or better were only one in every 3,900,000 of population.

In the boom year 1929, 513 individuals computed their incomes in seven figures.

The treasury said in a survey of 1935 income tax returns that 23 persons had incomes between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000; eight between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000; two between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000; seven between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000, and one between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

None in 5 Million Bracket.

There was not a single person in the top income bracket of $5,000,000 or more in 1935. In 1934, one taxpayer was reported in this bracket.

The 41 persons in the 1935 millionaire column had aggregate net income of $73,631,000 and paid $41,500,000 in income taxes. In 1934 the 33 persons with incomes of $1,000,000 or more had net incomes of $57,774,000 and paid $32,211,000 in taxes.

Persons with incomes ranging between $100,000 and $150,000 were the biggest contributors to the federal till in a single tax bracket in both 1935 and 1934, paying $54,132,000 and $38,166,000 in the respective years.

4,575,012 File Returns.

In the lowest bracket classifications, individuals with incomes of less than $5,000 paid $40,233,000 in taxes for 1935, compared with $34,685,000 in 1934.

The treasury said 4,575,012 persons filed income tax returns during 1935, had $14,909,812,000 in net income and paid $657,439,000 in taxes. This compared with 4,094,420 persons, $12,796,802,000 in net income and $511,400,000 in taxes in 1934.

	1935.	1934.
No. of returns	345,857	310,456
Income	$1,171,834,000	$1,006,928,000
Total tax	31,134,000	40,399,000

Salaries, wages, commissions, fees and similar compensation were the chief course of income in both years, providing $9,900,578,000 in 1935 and $8,600,455,000 in 1934.

AMBITION VS. LETHARGY

By CALEB

WE used to see occasionally a man who is a man of the world. He has pursued numerous and interesting occupations. But let him tell it.

"FIRST, I sold barber supplies. Hair tonics, you see? Good business, too. Down south. High color, you know. Funny greens and reds—fancy bottles. We made colors nobody else had. Nobody else wanted 'em. But I didn't have to work hard. Made a living.

"I liked the phonograph business better. Sellin' to retailers, you know. No brand name. Put any name on the dealer asked for. Name 'em for his wife, if he wanted. We didn't care.

"That was a swell job. Sell about two stores a day—make $75 a week. Got my $75 many's the time by Wednesday. Then I'd stop. You know. Just a wife and kid to support. No use killin' myself.

"Seventy-five bucks would look swell now, but that racket's no good. Radios. That's what they want now. But competition's awful!

"Before phonographs? Well, I was in the canary business. That's a nice clean business too. Used to have 300 to 400 canaries at a time—hatch 'em and raise 'em. You know. Easy job too. No hard work. Made a good living.

"That's no good any more. Good birds too cheap. But I used to make all I needed in four or five days a week.

"This job of barberin', though. No four or five day weeks now. This is hard work. You earn all you get here. But the good games are all gone.

"I liked real estate. I sold subdivision lots. Two companies I worked for. Man, man, that was easy money. Make a week's pay in a day, sometimes. You know. Independent like. Work a little and then have plenty time to ease along. But that's no good any more, either. Everybody wanted lots then. Who wants 'em now? I sold lots will be vacant for fifty years. But that was nice easy work."

NOT all people are ambitious. Many people want a living and no more. For them, extra reward is not worth the effort required to obtain it.

There is, however, in America, a high percentage of ambitious people. That is one reason communistic ideas will not work here. Ambitious and industrious persons will not be regimented with the wholly amiable—or the lethargic—or the lazy—who want little from life.

HAZARDS MAKE INJURY TRAP OF U. S. HIGHWAY 66

Billboards, Hidden Drives Peril Motorists.

BY HAL FOUST.

Highway officials, who are inclined to blame driving errors for the increasing trafic toll, might be cited as abettors in the motor massacre under evidence uncovered in a survey just completed on U. S. 66. A reporter and a photographer visited the scenes of 164 automobile crashes since Jan. 1 on the 150 miles of this road between Springfield and Joliet and found rectifiable hazards in the roadway itself at locations of high accident frequency.

The basis for the survey was a map maintained by the highway department with a pin showing the location of every accident involving one or more deaths or personal injuries. U. S. 66 was an irregular column of pin heads diagonally across the state. Unexplained by department records was the bunching of pins at certain locations.

Camera Finds Explanation.

The explanation was found in touring the highway with a camera. Where the pin heads were numerous it was discovered that there were physical characteristics of the road such as would penalize a motorist for any driving imperfection.

South of Lincoln, after a long stretch of straightaway, inviting speed, the span alignment wavered, requiring a bit of manipulation of the steering wheel. To the left of the right of way was a string of billboard advertisments designed to attract the attention of travelers. The map shows three pins on this short stretch.

Just south of Bloomington there had been so many accidents that special pins were necessary to indicate the number on the map. North bound there is a small hill just before a division of the pavement. On the south side of the hill a right curve carries the new route of U. S. 66 markers, while the old route goes straight ahead.

Hill Hides "Y."

Because of the hill, north bound trafic does not see this "Y" until almost upon it. On the south side of the hill there are driveways into a beer tavern and gas station that cannot be seen by south bound trafic until the crest is reached. The state issues permits for such driveways.

North of Normal there is a series of small hills which have been the scene of a number of accidents. There are no marked passing zones and no center stripe for a no passing zone, such as are used in some states.

In villages and cities there are clusters of accident pins. The highway was laid out to pass around local business centers, but now it goes through a maze of indiscriminately plotted private driveways to gasoline, beer, and sandwich establishments.

Tells of Many Crashes.

Acting Police Chief C. C. Follett of Pontiac told of the many crashes at 29 driveways within a mile of his city. At Braceville, population 303, there are driveways for five gas stations, one garage, two taverns, and a lunch stand within two blocks.

In the 17 miles from Wilmington to Joliet there have been eleven deaths and twenty injuries since Jan. 1. There are curves where drivers have been killed for the officially recorded reason that they were going too fast. A trial proved the curves too sharp for ordinary speeds.

The Illinois highway department has stated that it contemplates modernization of U. S. 66 as a divided four lane highway from Chicago to Springfield. Pending such construction, the survey indicates that road engineers and public officials might share the blame with motorists for the heavy accident toll.

The Rev. C. V. Shannon, 72 years old, professor of religion at the Academy of Our Lady, 9500 Throop street, was recovering yesterday in Holy Cross hospital from injuries incurred Saturday night in a freak accident. He was riding in an automobile when he suddenly felt faint, and opened the door to get air. The wind jerked the door out of his grasp and he fell out of the car to the pavement.

Injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile on Aug. 7 caused the death of Tito Del Vecchio, 57 years old, 929 South Oakley boulevard, in the Mother Cabrini hospital last night. Del Vecchio, a café owner, was run down in Harrison street, west of Halsted street, by a car driven by Robert Sedgwick, 5052 Drexel boulevard.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 828 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 627 were killed in Chicago, where 17,647 were injured in the same period.

PRETTY SOFT FOR OUR PLANNERS.

A reporter tried to find out why red Russian winter wheat seed was sent to the government Alaskan colony in Matanuska valley where 168 transplanted farmers are still trying to survive the more abundant life. Red Russian ought not ideologically to be a bad wheat for the searchers for a new and better life than they could find in the United States under Mr. Wallace, but it appears that being winter wheat it isn't the thing to plant in soil and climate which, although bounteous in the prospectus, has too much winter.

The colonists made a complaint about the seed. They wanted to know who had been responsible, and the curiosity was natural. The search for information went from the department of agriculture to the Farm Security administration, to the offices of the WPA, and finally brought up in the Alaskan Rural Rehabilitation corporation. It appears that the purchasing agency in Seattle advertised for Siberian or Russian wheat and took the lowest bid, which had omitted to state the kind of wheat, and the result was that unsuitable Russian red was delivered to the colonists.

A slipped cog affecting the abundance of life for no more than 168 farmers is a small thing in all the intricate meshing to which the planned society in the United States is now geared, but it serves to illustrate the comparatively happy circumstances in which our planners plan. They have money and authority without responsibility. When things big or little go wrong they can run as high as 99 per cent, or it can go even to the ultimate and be 100 per cent.

Nobody even really chides them when a failure becomes monumental. They can send winter wheat where it won't grow, build a dam for which there is no use, produce power for which there are no customers, anticipate a drouth by cutting crops, kill off stock, reduce the southern sharecroppers and tenant farmers to poverty, and stop industrial production by encouraging disorders without having to answer for it.

Where the planned society has reached an ideological idealism and is struggling to justify itself by works, these little errors so lightly committed by our abundant lifers are treated seriously. A Russian administrator who sent the wrong wheat seed to a collectivized farm would be accused of counter-revolutionary, terrorist, wrecking, subversive, capitalistic and Trotzkyite activities and he would be promptly shot. He probably wouldn't even take the trouble to explain that it was a natural or unfortunate mistake. He would know that his fate was on him.

If high prices could be attributed to some of Mr. Wallace's maneuvers he'd be shot as a traitor. When Mr. Tugwell's model community cost sheets had been examined he would face a court which would promptly convict him of having tried to wreck collectivism by proving how much better capitalism could do the job. Day by day in the news from Russia we read what happens to planners in an advanced stage of the more abundant life experiment when human error creeps into the program and something goes wrong with the machinery. The person upon whom any sort of responsibility, real or framed, can be fixed pays for it with his life. Stalin shoots the erring comrades to encourage the others.

CAREFREE AS A BIRD.

Casual observation suggests that this year has been a prosperous one for the migratory birds. This autumn there seem to be more of them than usual stopping in Chicago on their way south. More people than ever may be wondering why the birds take these long flights, covering many thousands of miles, twice a year. Why don't they stay in the tropics and thus save themselves the risk and exertion imposed by the migration?

A writer in the current Harper's, George Dock Jr., suggests that the principal reason is economic. In the nesting season the parents require a maximum of nourishment for themselves and, in addition, must provide food for their young. The birds can hunt food only by daylight. A 12 hour day is too short. They have to go north to find a place where the day is longer. There they can work longer hours and thus keep the species going.

To meet the needs of a nestful of purple martins, says Mr. Dock, the parents must make 200 insect catching flights a day. These flights will cover distances up to a quarter of a mile from the nest. A chickadee will eat 5,500 cankerworm eggs a day. It takes a lot of moving about to find them. "A larger insectivorous bird devours between 25 and 3,000 victims each day, depending upon the size of the quarry and the bird species concerned." A flicker will eat 3,000 ants and a catbird 30 grasshoppers.

To keep themselves and their young alive the birds must work 14, 16, or 18 hours a day. To find this much daylight small birds, even tiny ones, must fly over land and sea for 3,000 to 5,000 miles and at the end of the summer fly back again to the tropics. It's a hard life. "Carefree as a bird" is a phrase which seems to have been coined without an adequate appreciation of the facts.

THE BITING GOLDFISH AGAIN.

When Americans read the sorrowful, self-effacing, even pitiful note of the Japanese explaining why they are advancing into central China nothing but the biting goldfish will come to mind. Occidentals cannot crowd into the saints' gallery. It is too small and they are too many. Their record of conquest and acquisition the world over can be regarded as closed only on the ground of satiety or incompetence. They have done plenty to China in the past and are not among the meek in China today.

Nevertheless the Japanese succeed in getting further beyond occidental comprehension now than is usual in the psychological relations of largely divergent peoples. Diplomacy in Tokio may have thought the soft answer would be most timely. Japanese civilians may feel that the military has been too thoroughgoing and too realistic. In imitating the precepts and habits of European militarism it may have outdone teacher.

Probably Americans could not have understood a seriously reasoned explanation of Japan's position. The continual encroachment of Japanese armed forces on Chinese territory, with a constantly widening border circle along which frontier incidents may occur, is no foundation for the assertion that the Chinese pursue a provocative, anti-Japanese policy making self-defense necessary.

What the Japanese may be trying to say is that the extension of soviet Russia over China will, if not checked, threaten the existence of the present government of Japan. The Japanese proletariat is not in a happy state. Worker and peasant toil hard for a bare subsistence. China has been the most fertile soil for communist activities ever since the Russian revolution and the Chinese dictatorship has played in and out with the Reds.

The Chinese government broke with its own Reds and finally drove them into the western provinces. It is now again in accord with the new Stalin principles of compromise, common purpose, and the popular front.

That may be what the Japanese are trying to explain, but all it comes to is that the goldfish bit them.

AMERICAN RIGHTS AT STAKE.

Port Huron, Mich., is the latest American community endangered by a C. I. O. invasion. Disorder broke out a week ago in an attempt of C. I. O. leaders to organize employés of a local brass works. The attempt failed. A local wire plant has now been besieged where, it is said, only 100 of the 800 employés are organized. The strikers undertook to prevent the nonunion workers from entering their place of work and the sherif and deputies gave them protection. The C. I. O. leaders have declared their intention of bringing members of the United Automobile Workers from Toledo and nearby Michigan towns to make another demonstration—that is, rioting—and the sherif and prosecuting attorney of Port Huron have asked for aid from Gov. Murphy to keep the peace. He has refused it. The local authorities propose to assemble enough officers to enforce the law and fifty deputies will be sent them by the Michigan Sherifs' association from twenty-five southern and central Michigan counties.

Gov. Murphy's contempt of his duty to the people of Michigan has been shown before. His allegiance is apparently to the C. I. O. He poses as a friend of labor, but it is no friend of labor who encourages tactics of the C. I. O. which put it in the light of a law breaking tyrant.

The issues Lewis' organization and its official allies have raised are whether American citizens have a right to work and to be protected in this right from lawless violence; whether the employés of an industry may be subjected to violence by forces of nonemployés aided by nonresidents; whether law abiding communities have a right to the assistance of the authorities of the state in keeping the peace and enforcing the law when it has been invaded and terrorized.

That the tactics of the C. I. O. which have raised these issues are in the interest of organized labor no intelligent, law abiding worker can believe. They are in the interest of Mr. Lewis' ambition to control the labor movement in the United States and make it an agency for attack upon American democratic principles. Port Huron is fighting for home rule and for the freedom of the American citizen.

STILL ANOTHER FARM POLICY.

[Hartford (Conn.) Courant.]

Announcing the abandonment of the old policy of attempting to give the farmer "parity prices" and the substitution for it of a program of guaranteeing the farmer "parity income," Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is taking on an even larger burden than the government had already assumed. The "parity price" policy attempted to give the farmer a price for his products that would stand in a fixed ratio to other prices. The "parity income" principle would neglect unit prices and instead attempt to give the farmer the same total yearly income in relation to the incomes of other groups that he has had on the average for the last fifty years.

Governmental price fixing is a relatively easy task. It may be wasteful, wholly uneconomic and destructive of foreign markets, but, by a willingness to purchase unlimited quantities of a particular commodity at a stated price, the government can effectively peg the price at that figure. Unfortunately, as Mr. Wallace admitted after a time, "consumers and taxpayers would not let farmers continue to dip money out of the treasury." In consequence, he is preparing another plan to take care of that unfortunate unwillingness of the consumer and the taxpayer to continue openly to subsidize the farmer. Instead, he promises by a complicated type of witch medicine to juggle all prices and income levels around so that the farmer's revenues will remain constant in terms of those of other groups.

Vastly more difficult, and, as he outlines the plan, apparently not less uneconomic than the "parity price" policy, Mr. Wallace's new scheme involves the handing out of subsidies no less than does the present plan. To be sure, the taxpayer might be forced to contribute less than he now does to the farmer's income, but the consumer would none the less continue to support the farmer in the style to which the politicians have accustomed him. If the farm income is to remain constant the taxpayer or the consumer must absorb the losses of bad years, and no amount of talk can alter the fact.

AT SEA.

Our ship sails onward, the days pass by,
Over the ocean, beneath the sky—
Days of tempests and days of calm,
Nights of Oblivion's blessed balm:
Days and nights; but out here in space
They come and they go and they leave no trace.
For Time's dominion holds not the sea
That swings in the sweep of eternity.
And we who were men, who were pilgrims, frail,
We are immortals, the while we sail,
With life outspanned; and we reck no more
Of the world where breakers beat the shore,
Of the world with its limits of land and sky,

CHILDREN NEED IODINE.

It is so much easier and wiser to prevent disease than to try to cure it. A teaspoonful or two of liquid chlorine in 100 gallons of water will destroy typhoid bacilli and the fluid then will be perfectly safe to drink. The cost is only a few cents. Contrast this with the weeks of illness, bills for nursing, and medical supplies, physicians' fees, etc., involved in a single case of typhoid fever and the lesson is clear. We can stop diphtheria if we will. The armor of protection is available to every one and the expense is trifling.

Recognizing this general principle, the physicians of Michigan took stock a few years ago and found that goiter was unusually prevalent among school children. The explanation was that the soil and hence the vegetables and fruits, as well as the drinking water, contained too little iodine. In fact, an investigation of a few counties disclosed scarcely any.

Now, this element is necessary for the proper functioning of the human body and unless it occurs in the blood [a very small amount] the thyroid gland is likely to bulge and become a visible tumor on the front of the neck. That condition is called goiter.

The doctors of Michigan discovered another thing. They found that the number of operations required to save patients suffering from toxic thyroid disease [the type which poisons the system] was very high and they determined to advise the feeding of minute doses of iodine to children on the theory that it would prevent the swelling of the gland. They knew of the suggestion that had been offered by David Marine of Cleveland that common salt used at the table and in cooking should be mixed with a low percentage of the missing chemical.

Ten years have elapsed since the inauguration of the experiment, and it is interesting to view the results. In five counties, studied during 1935, the percentage of improvement ranged from 74 to 90.

It is, of course, believed that infection may play a causative part in the enlargement of the secreting organ in the neck, but if so the answer seems to be that if iodine is present in the body this will not take place.

In 1936 a survey of the school children of Cleveland, where the same procedure has been carried out for several years, showed that only 7.7 per cent of those using this special salt exhibited goiter in even the slightest degree. Of those not taking it 31 per cent manifested obvious signs.

There seems to be no cogent reason why sodium iodide should not be added to table salt so that a standard mixture is always available for inhabitants of those districts where the disorder is known to be common. The plan has been followed long enough to indicate that if it is carried on for several years there will be a marked reduction in the number of cases requiring surgery. McClure reported that over a six year period the number of removals of the thyroid in seven Detroit hospitals dropped from 1,452 in 1927 to 591 in 1933. He ascribes the diminution to the widespread feeding of minimal quantities of iodine.

With persons living in certain areas the use of the drug must be continued as a matter of daily habit. In one part of Michigan in which it was stopped a marked rise in the occurrence of the difficulty appeared within two years. There seems no alternative other than that public health authorities should determine the proportion contained in water, fruits, and vegetables and make sure that a sufficient quantity exists.

The general recognition of the rôle of iodine has prompted family physicians as well as parents to see that the growing child is receiving enough of this chemical.

STUTTERING.

Mrs. P. K. writes: About eight months ago our 6 year old son began to stutter. He is getting worse. Is it better to ignore it or should we make him repeat each sentence correctly? He can speak plainly if I keep reminding him of it. His teacher says he does not stutter in class.

REPLY.

The child is suffering from a mild type of self-consciousness due to embarrassment or fear. Since the stuttering is more apparent at home than at school, the trouble must be looked for in the home. Some situation there is making him nervous and ill at ease. Find the cause, eliminate it, and the stuttering will cease. He needs sympathetic help. Speak slowly to him yourself. Aid him to keep calm in all circumstances.

GOITER OPERATION.

Mrs. C. M. writes: I had a goiter operation three months ago and feel lots better but get upset and nervous every once in a while. Is this natural? Every one tells me it takes time to recover.

REPLY.

It does take time for complete recovery from such an operation—perhaps a year, in some cases. Your physician will ask for a metabolism test soon. This checks the rate of improvement. Like the basketball player, you are entitled to a "free throw" at being nervous once in a while.

INFLAMED KIDNEY.

Mrs. A. B. writes: 1. What are the symptoms of an inflamed kidney? 2. What is the cure?

REPLY.

1. Acute congestion may occur following exposure to cold or result from some disease toxin such as scarlet fever. Anemia, digestive disturbances, pallor, weakness, puffiness under the eyes, and swelling of the hands and feet are symptoms.

2. Sometimes the irritation subsides within a few days—if proper care is used. Treatment is rest and diet.

TUMOR ON NECK.

A. C. writes: My father has a lump at the base of his neck. It has been there for about a year and it is getting bigger. Would appreciate suggestions.

REPLY.

The ways of tumors are devious and uncertain. The growth is probably a wen and will be found to be filled with cheesy matter. Would advise removal by a skilled surgeon. In my opinion there is no cause for worry.

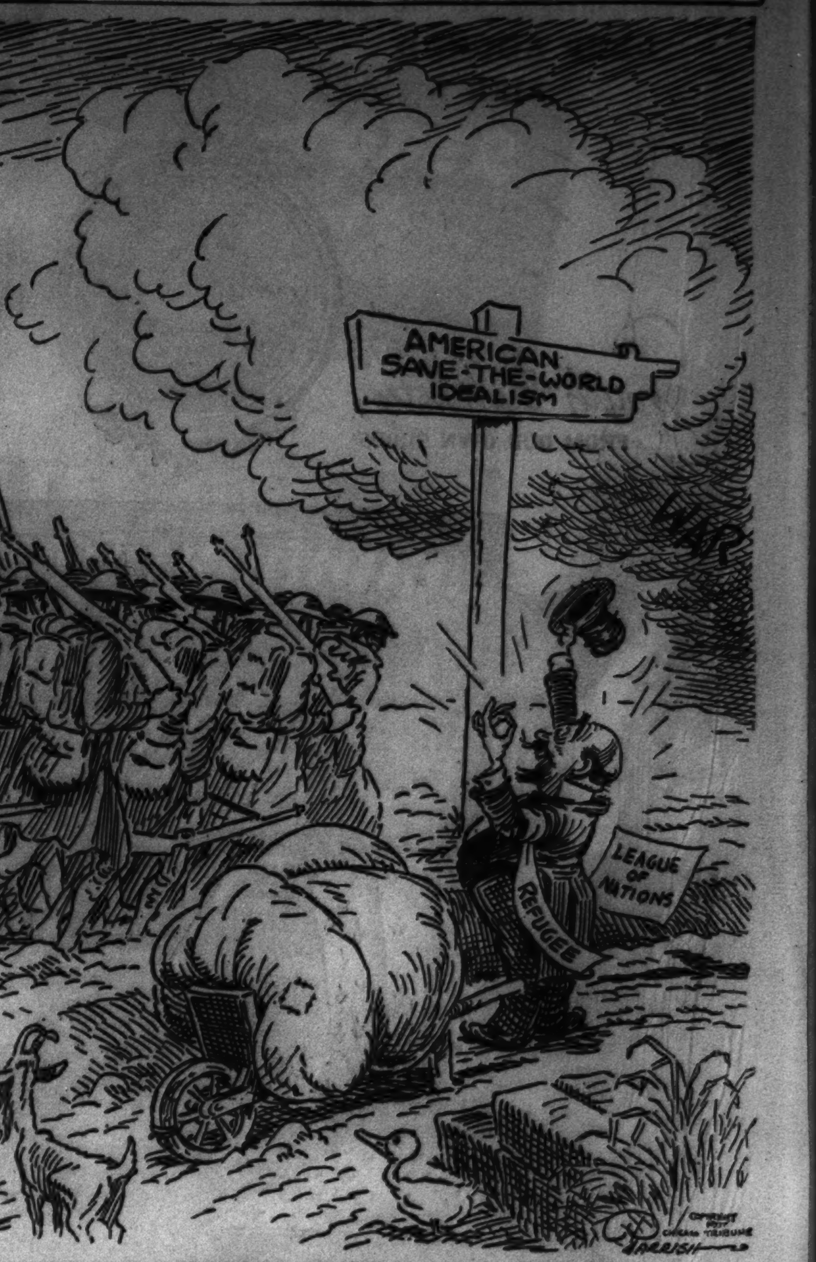
HEART LEAKS.

H. B. Z. writes: What is the cause of a leaking heart? Is it hereditary? Can it be cured?

REPLY.

A leaking heart results whenever the valves do not "seat" [close] tightly. Disease [infection] is the usual cause. The condition is not hereditary. It cannot be cured but it can be lived with to a ripe old age. Physicians pay little attention to this phenomenon, as the condition of the heart muscle is the important thing.

"THE ROAD BACK"



From Across the Sea

BY QUENTIN POPE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand.—The government's effort to stabilize farming by buying the whole product of the milk industries at fixed prices has resulted in an anticipated loss of $3,250,000 for the last year.

The bulk of the produce goes to the London market, which draws a quarter of all its supplies from this country. In London the fag-end of the season's shipments are being sold to the brokers and the calculated loss which taxpayers will have to bear is based on the assumption prices will hold up for the few remaining weeks of the farmers' year.

The guaranteed price, confessedly an experimental step in a campaign which would fix all prices for major industries and thus give producers an assured minimum return, was begun in a period of difficulty for the milk industry and price levels were hard to calculate. The object was to pay farmers at the average rate of their return over the previous ten years, a time which included the prosperity years up to 1928 and the succeeding slump. The government takes control of all shipments once they are on board steamer.

The Labor government also undertakes marketing of the produce and asserts it has succeeded in making savings of $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 in its first twelve months of operation. It holds the adjustment of prices will end land speculation, prevent overcapitalization of farms and encourage farmers to greater efficiency.

Farmers are not so sure the guaranteed price plan is working to their advantage. They hold production costs have mounted and contend tighter control of farm labor forces agriculturists to pay out $2,000 a year for hired help on small farms. Returns have not compensated for this additional charge, they contend. Some are not satisfied with the method of government control, being confident they could get better returns in the open market.

The guaranteed price for butter for next year, fixed at almost 27 cents a pound, is far below the cost of getting that butter from factory to ship, they contend. Some farmers set production charges at 36 cents a pound, due to general disturbance of the country's economy under Labor rule.

The farmers' reasoning is hard to understand. If there is a surplus in the milk produce account of the New Zealand Reserve bank, through which transactions are financed, this will go back to those who sold the butter and cheese. Any loss is borne by the general taxpayer. Thus the agriculturist can't lose anything.

The Laborites express pleasure at the outcome of their first year's experiment with the guaranteed price. It is possible they will apply it to other industries this year.

Labor Finance Minister Walter Nash, who recently returned from trade conferences in Moscow and Washington, is hopeful that his task will be made still easier by new trade between New Zealand and the United States. He found a large market for milk products in the United States. Even with a United States tarif of 14 cents a pound on the New Zealand butter it is possible to sell it profitably in some parts of the United States, Nash declared.

UNSIGHTLY SHED.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—[Friend of the People.]—For several months I have been complaining about the filth and unsanitary condition, and particularly about an old, dilapidated shed in the rear of the premises next door. Refuse is thrown in there and it is a haven for tramps. I have two little boys and fear something might happen if this old shed is not wrecked. Is there any way we can have this old shed torn down or removed?

SHARP PRACTICE.

Decorah, Ia., Oct. 8—Once a year Mrs. Johnson and myself make a trip to Chicago and spend about one week there. We have no folks or relatives to visit, but enjoy our annual visit seeing the Cubs, the shows, and the city in general. Our annual visit has always been pleasant and something that we look forward to, but this year we have a complaint to file.

In order to see our favorite Cubs play the Giants in the season's last encounter we arranged to stay over an extra day, planning on driving home after the game. This is a 300 mile trip. We therefore drove to the Cubs park and sought parking space at a nearby garage, thinking that by so doing we could leave a little early and get away before the crowd. The man in charge assured us that we could drive our car out any time, as he would leave space for us to do so, after which we agreed to pay his fee of 75 cents for the privilege.

We left in the eighth inning to get this early start, but to our dismay we found that he had parked cars all around and in front of ours as well as filled all driveways. When the matter was called to his attention all we got was abuse, and finally had to wait until 6 o'clock, two hours after the game was over, before getting away. Ours was not the only complaint, as we had dozens of people tell us the same story.

Cannot something be done to crack down on such cheats? They not only make people pay double the price they should but abuse them for this privilege.

W. N. JOHNSON.

IRONY.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Pro-Chinese propaganda goes merrily on. Radio, press, magazine—all emotionally tell us what angels the Chinese are, what devils the Japanese. The yellow man is disliked, feared, and discriminated against in our own country. Soon we may be sending our boys to China to fight her battles for her. We are eager to save 400 millions of yellow men, 7,000 miles away, but how about our treatment of him right here in America!

FULL DICTATORIAL POWERS.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Mr. Roosevelt's Chicago speech and the subsequent activity of the state department mean to those who are using their heads that war is just around the corner. And in that event Mr. Roosevelt will possess in fact the full dictatorial powers for which he has been striving ever since 1933. It means, too, that once again Mr. Roosevelt has overridden the will of the people he is pledged to serve.

WHAT AILS THE "L."

Chicago, Oct. 6.—A Car Rider is in error in stating that the "physical property of the Rapid Transit lines is in poor condition." The equipment, structure, road bed, etc., are and always have been maintained in first class condition. The service is good, is free of the deadly carbon monoxide gas of street trafic, and of blockades due to blizzards which paralyze all other transportation.

My only criticism of the service is the failure of the management to run enough cars. Trafic is lost because of the false economy of operating short trains, with cars idle in the yards, forcing passengers to stand unnecessarily even in nonrush hours.

It is true as stated, "They are losing money now." However, this is due mainly to the fact that the "L" is a railroad, and, like all railroads, must maintain at its own expense a private right of way, rails, signals, and pay wages of switchmen, towermen, etc., while its competitors use the streets, maintained by the taxpayers who also pay for trafic signals, police wages, etc.

The "L" needs no new equipment and no consolidation with bus and surface lines but does need a fair deal in taxation, wherein street trafic and not the general taxpayers maintain the streets.

"L" PASSENGER.

AND GENTLEMEN.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—As a protest against I. C. Rider's unfair criticism of the entire R. O. T. C. in Thursday's paper, I am saying a few words in the defense of the Hirsch unit.

There were four schools represented in the six car train, and while conditions may have been different in other cars, in the Hirsch car at least ten fellows, including myself, gave up our seats to older people. I'm not saying that I. C. Rider is entirely wrong, for in any body that will permit an older person to stand is obviously lacking in manners and courtesy, but I am saying that there wasn't an older person standing in the Hirsch car. I think that this proves that the whole R. O. T. C. is not as bad as he points out.

R. O. T. C. CADET.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES.

Maywood, Ill., Oct. 7.—Is it any wonder that the motoring public refuse to pay their vehicle tax until forced to do so. We are forced to drive on streets that are rough and full of holes, some even unsafe, and then we read that $750,000 has been diverted to help make up back salaries for city employés who have been regularly employed through these lean years at larger wages than most of us have had.

A. F. OF L. STARTS ORGANIZATION OF OFFICE WORKERS

Also Maps Farm, Canning Drive in California.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Denver, Colo., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—American Federation of Labor organization drives among the white collar workers of the nation, and in the agricultural and canning industry in California were announced today by William Green, federation president.

Frank Weikel.

In the white collar field, the federation has formed a national council of the American Federation of office employés, Mr. Green announced. His personal assistant, Frank Weikel, is president of the new council, containing some sixty-five federal unions with about 7,000 members.

In organizing a new industry, the federation forms the first members recruited into federal unions, which are under the direct control of the A. F. of L. executive council. The formation of a national council of these unions is an intermediate step toward later organization of an autonomous international union.

C. I. O. Also in Field.

Formation of the new council marks the federation's first large scale attempt to organize white collar workers in private employment. It already has a large membership of federal government, postoffice, state and local government and railroad office workers. The Committee for Industrial Organization is also active in the white collar field.

Federal unions which will be amalgamated in a proposed national council of cannery and agricultural workers, of which E. D. Van Deleur of the California Federation of Labor will be the leader, already have a membership of 60,000, Mr. Green said.

The C. I. O. controversy is the first important order of business when the federation resumes its sessions here tomorrow. The resolutions committee will bring in its report at that time.

Asks Power to Revoke Charters.

The executive council is seeking power to revoke the charters of all the international unions which followed John L. Lewis into the C. I. O. There is every expectation that this request will be granted by the convention.

Some of the bitter enders would have the convention make it mandatory upon the executive council to expel the Lewis unions. The council, however, wants discretionary power, and it is reported that if it gets its wish, will not institute a wholesale purge, but will start with one or two of the C. I. O. unions, in the hope of winning some of the others back to the A. F. of L.

If the C. I. O. issue comes up tomorrow morning, as scheduled, Charles P. Howard, C. I. O. secretary, will be barred from speaking on it. Howard is here as a delegate from the International Typographical union, of which he is president, but his credentials have been protested by the carpenters' union.

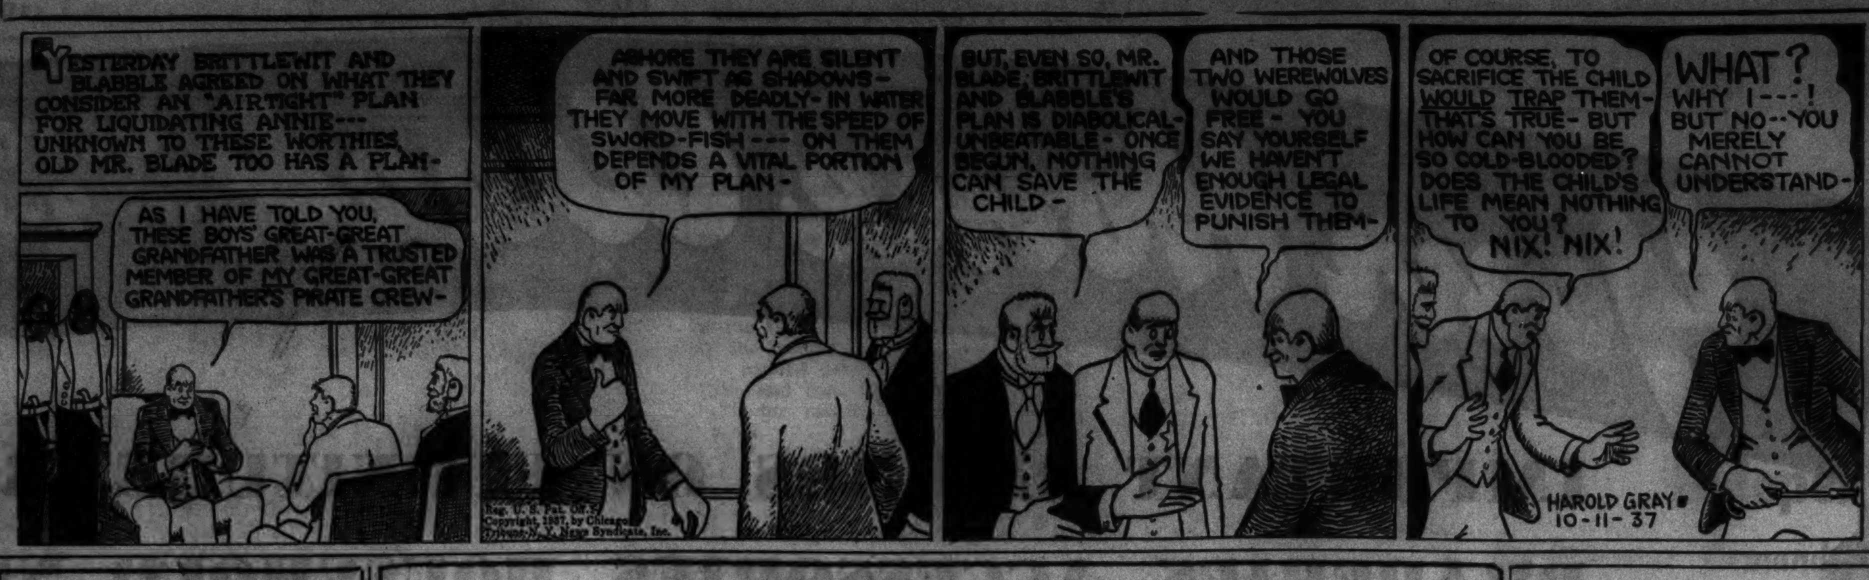
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Grave Consideration



OLD LOOP MAIN

Piece of water main laid in loop in 1854 which is being removed in replacement project.

Loran D. Gayton, city engineer, said yesterday that three more weeks will be needed to complete installation of the new 16 inch water mains in downtown State street to replace the ones which were laid in 1854. Jury Commissioner

MRS. ANDREW J. STEELMAN.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The distinction of being the first officeholder of her sort in the world is claimed for Mrs. Louis S. Steelman of Montclair who has just been sworn in as federal jury commissioner for the state of New Jersey.

In announcing the appointment, Federal Judge William Clark, senior judge of the New Jersey district, said of Mrs. Steelman: "She is, I believe, the first woman jury commissioner in the world, which to my way of thinking is a sign of progress."

She is the wife of Andrew J. Steelman, Newark attorney, and is an independent Democrat. In coöperation with the District court, she will draw grand and petit jury panels. The position is nonsalaried. She has long been active in furthering the cause of having women serve as jurors in all courts of the state.

EDUCATORS' KIN SHOWN MOST FIT FOR COLLEGES

Wisconsin U. Reports on Survey.

BY THORNTON SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The University of Wisconsin has just released its first report in an eight year study of the question: Who should go to college? The university has been inquiring into this problem in coöperation with public schools and colleges.

No definite conclusion is reached in the report. Only a few detailed observations are made, and these largely concern group ratings of children.

Kin of Professors Highest.

The report found that children of professors earned the highest standing for aptitude in an examination of more than 100,000 high school seniors who were given more than 300,000 tests. On a basis of 100 per cent for the highest ranking individual, a perfect score in the intelligence test, professors' children rated 84.68.

Behind them were children of lawyers and judges, with a rating of 80.84; children of accountants and auditors, with 77.14; children of teachers, with 74.03; children of journalists with 73.57, and children of bankers and brokers, with 71.87.

The scale went downward with children of miners with a rating of 34.28. A surprise was the rating of only 41.59 for children of farmers.

Rate Average of 50.

Children of policemen and other law officers rated an average of 50. Children from white collar homes showed ratings above 51.47, which was the exact rating for children of skilled workers.

The study was begun in 1929. In the beginning the psychological tests of the University of Ohio were used as the yardstick. Later the American council psychological tests were used, and then the Henmon Nelson tests for mental ability were employed.

Prof. V. A. C. Henmon and Dr. Lewis E. Drake of the psychology department of the University of Wisconsin are conducting the studies.

EXPERTS FAVOR DUAL HIGHWAYS AS SAFETY STEP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Assembling here today is the general staf in the nation's war on street and highway accidents that leave a yearly casualty list of 37,500 dead and 1,300,000 injured. The Institute of Trafic Engineers opened a three day conference this afternoon and the National Safety council will open a five day congress tomorrow morning.

Those who have attended these sessions in former years detect a new attitude among these men whose opinions influence strategy toward reduction of the accident toll.

The program reflects this attitude. Tomorrow the institute will hear Hugh Young, chief engineer of the Chicago plan commission, discuss "By-Pass Routes for Large and Small Cities." Dr. Miller McClintock, head of Harvard university bureau of trafic research, who developed elevated highway plans for the Chicago council, is the main speaker at the annual banquet.

Burton W. Marsh, safety and trafic engineer of the American Automobile association, will have a paper entitled "Express Highways," w 'e a subject assigned to R. E. Toms, chief designer of the United States bureau of public roads, is "Engineering the Highway for Safety."

English Union Founder to Be Dinner Speaker

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE English-Speaking Union has timed its opening meeting to coincide with the arrival of two distinguished visitors, Sir Evelyn and Lady Wrench. Invitations have gone out to a dinner for them on Friday evening, Oct. 22, at the Drake hotel.

Sir Evelyn, who is the founder and present chairman of the English-Speaking Union of the British Empire, and Lady Wrench are on their way back to England after a wedding trip that took them to the orient. Sir Evelyn will touch on conditions there as he observed them at first hand in his address, "World Affairs Today."

From San Francisco have come enthusiastic reports concerning Sir Evelyn and his lady, both of whom spoke before the English-Speaking Union there. Lady Wrench was Lady Des Voeux before her recent marriage.

Sir Evelyn a Chicago Visitor in 1920.

Sir Evelyn has numerous friends here, for he came to Chicago in 1920 in the interests of the English-Speaking Union, which he had founded two years earlier.

A retired major, Sir Evelyn has been conspicuous as a journalist as well as in imperial affairs. He is vice president and founder of the Overseas league, is editor of the league's monthly organ, and is chairman of the Spectator. He also founded the All Peoples' association.

Samuel M. Rinaker, who was reelected president of the union last spring, will introduce the speaker. Other officers are Mrs. Arthur A. Small, John J. Mitchell, and James F. Oates Jr., and Durand Smith, vice presidents; John J. McDonough, secretary; C. R. Whitworth, treasurer; and Mrs. Mahlon Ogden West, executive secretary.

New directors are Miss Jean Armstrong, Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, James B. Forgan, Charles S. Dewey, Thomas R. Underwood, and Mrs. Errett Van Nice.

Foreign Relations Council to Have Luncheon Friday.

The Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, which started its season auspiciously last week, will have another luncheon-meeting on Friday of this week at 12:30 o'clock in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house. Carroll Binder, who has just returned from a tour of European capitals, will talk on "Europe 1937: The Clash of Men and Ideas."

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cudahy are being congratulated upon the birth of a son, their first child, on Saturday at the Passavant hospital. The baby, the first grandchild of Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, Mrs. Cudahy's mother, and Edward I. Cudahy, has not been named yet. Mrs. Cudahy is the former Miss Honore White.

Donald Butlers' Daughter Engaged to Californian.

Of interest to their friends here is the announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Butler of Carpinteria, Cal., of the engagement of their daughter, Donna, to Frank Nagle III. of Santa Barbara. The announcement was made at a tea Saturday at the Butlers' ranch.

Miss Butler is the niece of Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr. and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hudson Harper of Evanston, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Morton Butler of Evanston. She and her parents lived in Evanston before moving to California six years ago.

Miss Butler studied at the Santa Barbara Day school and at the Uni-

Mrs. Louis C. Sudler is one of the young women who find time to bring sunshine into the lives of other children than their own. Often she goes to St. Luke's hospital, of whose woman's board she is a member, to help entertain the young patients, among them Tommy, the appealing little boy pictured with her. The women's board will give its annual fashion show Tuesday afternoon and evening, Oct. 19, in the ballroom of the Stevens hotel.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 10.—Eleanor Powell, given a terrific tongue lashing by Ballet Mistress Albertina Rasch, in front of the "Rosalie" company, is demanding a formal apology. No star ever was told off so bluntly, according to those who were within earshot.

Despite that Mexican divorce, Isabel Jewell and Owen Crump are back together again. Lee McCarey, who directed "The Awful Truth," has 25 per cent of the net, and will make a fortune. . . . What was it that Director Sidney Lanfield whispered to Simone Simon to bring her out of that temperamental flare-up? She's been meek as a lamb ever since.

Loretta Young is wearing a wedding ring, but it's not from Joe Mankiewicz. Joe, however, will be supplying one shortly, because these two are cuh-razy about each other. . . . Stock market crashes saved Broadway drama critics from a lot of bad shows, withdrawn when "Angels" were clipped. . . . Lee Francis' new place will cost $100,000.

The Australian papers are sending copies of their blasts at George Brent to all Hollywood columnists. Brent's treatment of Constance Worth, Australian girl, has the antipodean press in a savage uproar, and if the sentiment spreads to the other dominions, it will short-circuit his career. . . .

Fly in the ointment in the new United Artist deal is reluctance of David Selznick and Walter Wanger to play second fiddle to Sam Goldwyn.

Tiny blonde actress who threatened fireworks at her divorce trial, subsided quickly when her husband produced her letters to that wealthy divorced woman.

Good Morning!

If you would care to contemplate Miss Barbara Stanwyck as a straight thinking, hard loving maid from the west who saves Mr. Herbert Marshall, as a middle-aged eastern playboy, from himself, that spectacle is available at the Palace.

Miss Stanwyck rarely disappoints me—and she doesn't do so this time. Mr. Marshall, in whom my soul formerly delighted—does. Though I hasten to add that I believe the story, rather than he, is at fault. I like him strong and more or less silent, not cavorting about with vine leaves in his hair.

As the picture opens it is the morn upon which the "breakfast for two" is served. Mr. Marshall's valet [Eric Blore] is astounded to discover a strange and beautiful young woman in the master's shower. He is NOT surprised to find the master still wearing his tails, sleeping off a drunk. . . .

Developments prove that the young woman, who has met the master on a gay round of night clubs, has been forced to bring him home. . . .

Soon you learn that master has been neglecting the shipping business—pride of his family for years and years—something shameful, while he has wined and dined rags and bones and hanks of hair who for his money only care. [Poem.]

The gentleman's gentleman, astute and devoted to master, is convinced almost immediately that the lady of the shower's real name is S—A—L—V—A—T—I—O—N! If she will ONLY take master in hand . . . !

To be brief—she does; assisted subtly by the gentleman's gentleman and the shipping company's board of directors, and foiled here and there, but not ultimately, by a blonde enchantress of the stage. [Glenda Farrell.]

Matters move rapidly—sometimes entertainingly and sometimes not. There is a great deal of not always bright dialog and a lot of comedy situations, some of which are not so awfully funny. But Barbara gets her man in the end. And as you like to see Barbara get what she wants—why, the picture may be termed more or less of a success, I suppose.

Miss Stanwyck and assorted players do commendable work. Mr. Marshall is smooth, though miscast.

I reckon the director did the best he could with the script in hand. And the picture does boast swank clothes and settings, and a dog with a lot of sense. Pee Wee is the name.

See you tomorrow.

Cossacks Sing Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Those who welcome an opportunity to hear a piece of music transcribed for any medium but the one which the composer intended must have been moved to transports of delight yesterday afternoon when Serge Jaroff and his famous Don Cossack Russian male chorus presented at the Civic Opera house their own arrangement of the Tschaikowsky Fifth Symphony. This happened in the course of a concert which consisted entirely of works new to Chicago.

To the symphony, as to every number which they essay, the sturdy, towering Cossacks brought the richly exciting tone quality which has helped win them so large and faithful following. Brought, too, their uncanny accuracy of pitch and their bewildering varied dynamic range.

An especially interesting part of the program was that given over to Russian folk music and music of the folk type. These men are said to be without a country, to be citizens of the world in the larger, sadder sense of the phrase. Yet they turn always to the more intimate songs of the country which they once called their own, and sing them with a love and conviction which cannot be assumed for the occasion.

Without even the tiniest preliminary nip of vodka, one is justified in finding in their work a suggestion of the great spaces of Russia, of the melancholy of her steppes, and of the rueful merrymaking of this strangest of European peoples.

The Cossacks made not one but two appearances in Chicago yesterday, returning to the Civic Opera house in the evening with a different program. They will be back in Chicago a week from Sunday for their final performance of the current season.

While the Cossack chorus was busy with its matinée at the Civic, three young Chicagoans were holding forth in Kimball hall. Frederick Farrel, an organist with a fine ear for delicate differences of registration, shared honors with Nila Stuart, soprano, and William Donaldson, baritone.

Endowed with a naturally pleasant voice quality, Miss Stuart does not yet reveal in her work a sufficient feeling for eloquent phrasing. The line of her singing is broken too often by causeless accents and by too sudden transitions from soft to loud and vice versa.

Mr. Donaldson, a resonant baritone, is guilty occasionally of trying to oversell his songs. A more detached viewpoint, with the easier, freer delivery which results, might help greatly. This comment is especially applicable to songs of a classical nature.

ON BOARD S. S. LURLINE. Last evening, the final night of the trip, began with a small preprandial party in the quarters of some voyagers whose suite includes a lanai, or porch room open to the ocean. We sat in the twilight watching the last glow of the sunset on the Pacific. Champagne and caviar from a great swan of ice were served, and the hostess, a beautiful young San Francisco woman, wore a wide lei of fresh red carnations that had mysteriously appeared for her in token of her approach to the Hawaiian Islands. Then we went below to a gala dining room, with everybody, including the captain, wearing crêpe paper hats, the orchestra playing special numbers for everybody, including a wedding march for the two bridal couples aboard, one of them the Nicholas R. du Ponts, and "Happy Days Are Here Again" in compliment to Dr. Ernest Gruening and Rexford Guy Tugwell, official and former official of the administration.

Arrival.

EARLY risers this morning saw, at 6:30, the point on Molokai Island, one of the crescented line of islands of the Hawaiian group, then the green ramparts of Oahu, the island on which Honolulu is situated, with the Koolau range, the backbone of the island, in the background. Rounding Koko head, the boat entered the harbor. A welcoming contingent of officials and friends had come aboard earlier bearing leis of brilliant blossoms. My own friends appeared and hung about my neck leis of delicate white pikaki flower, of ginger flower, and of a delicate pink bloom with frond-like petals, with great strange orchids and gardenias adorning the strands of blossoms. A white uniformed band on shore was playing Hawaiian music as the boat glided into harbor; brown skinned Hawaiian diving boys darted like fishes under the blue water for coins tossed from shipboard. Albert Lasker, near by at the railing, who had been talking to newspaper men about American business, about increased production costs, about burocracy in shipping administration, was frivolously garlanded with blossoms and wore an "elephant hat" for protection from the sun, as did Gene Sarazen, a member of his party; and everybody was beaming with joy and excitement. It was 9 o'clock in the morning and we were at Honolulu at last, and it was all just like the colored movies—only better—for there is friendly beauty as well as drama in the mountains that push up out of the ocean, and there is peace as well as exoticism in the atmosphere of the tree embowered islands, immediately perceivable, as we drive out Diamond Head road, past the oleanders and the coconut palms and banyan trees, and the hedges of hibiscus, past the great hotels and the Waikiki beach, to this enchanting little house by the sea where I am a visitor.

The Slenderette Shop "Re-Forms" You For the "Form Divine"

BEFORE you stir a step on your next shopping trip, stop and ask yourself—"what sort of a figure should I have to be smart"? The answer is inevitable. Because the new Fall clothes are fitted so tightly that they look as though they'd been painted on—you must be flat as a pancake through the diaphragm, have a noticeable high rounded bust, a Fritzi Scheff waist, and small rounded hips.

It sounds a little idealistic, but it's not impossible to attain. Paris designers have built their clothes around this general outline—the famous Wilson Method of Body Beauty will fit you into it.

SAFE ROAD

By Katharine Newlin Burt

(Copyright: 1937: By Katharine Newlin Burt.)

SYNOPSIS.

With rich old Caleb Winter not expected to live until morning, Isabella Winter, once his housekeeper, now his wife, wires her daughter attending school in Maryland to come home at last. For years Mrs. Winter has been forced to keep Sally Lee Keyne's existence a secret because Mr. Winter demanded a housekeeper without any family ties. Stopping overnight in an hotel in Baltimore, Sally is rescued from the advances of an old roué by young Robin Ashe, whose family lives near the old Crewe mansion, Sally's new home. Outside the hotel Sally has an unpleasant encounter with a tramp called Vincent, who is knocked down by Robin. Next morning the Winter chauffeur driving Sally home gives the tramp Vincent a lift. Sally orders that he be put out.

INSTALMENT VII.

THE WILL READ.

Sally, whose tongue like her face was alternately mobile or tranced, chattered constantly. The glory of her new home, the delight of her homecoming, had gone to her head, releasing her as wine does, from shyness and reserve. She told her mother graphically and with that too explosive laughter the story of her Baltimore adventures. "Do you know Robin Ashe? Or any one of that name?"

"I think so. A Mrs. Jaffery Ashe called here once on her way through. It was on one of the visiting days . . . they're rather a nuisance."

"But, mother, it's such a beautiful, historic place people ought to be allowed to see it. All those exquisite things . . ."

Mrs. Winter shrugged. "I ought to know it. It was my duty to show people about. Every chair and shelf and table and volume and knickknack. . . . I've had the care of it now for twelve years. When I was Mr. Winter's housekeeper . . ."

Sally then gave her a shy look . . . they had moved into one of the smaller drawing rooms for coffee and were alone. "Wasn't it sort of queer, Mother, I mean, changing from being his housekeeper to being his wife?"

"I'd been his only companion for so long, Sally. We were quite used to each other. I just . . . moved in."

She flushed for the first time, perhaps, in many years. "I was very fond of my husband, Sally. He was a strange man, I know. Very solitary and didn't like people. He had an unfortunate habit of suspicion. He had been hurt and deceived . . . terribly . . . and that led him to spying and inquiring and listening to tittle-tattle sometimes so that he heard the unpleasant falsely colored reports that are so often carried to the ears they weren't properly tuned for."

"Mother, did you suppose . . . he ever suspected about . . . me?"

Mrs. Winter got up, walked stiffly away to another table, found a work bag there and came back, all without speech. "No," she said then.

She sat down upright, both feet on the floor, put horn rimmed glasses on her nose and began to knit with short, dark, capable fingers.

"You're in deep mourning, aren't you, Mother? Should I wear black?"

"Certainly not. I want you to be the gayest and happiest girl in all Virginia. As soon as a decent time has passed I shall try to give some parties for you. I've not gone about much, but people know me here. They don't dislike me. They'll be glad to have Crewe house open again. It used to have famous hospitality."

Her mother watched her to her high four-posted bed in a room, fit, said Sally, for a "colonial angel." The poor woman savored with a starved pride, this gazing over the bath-dampened, outspread hair, the drowsy green-gray-golden eyes and the fair, strong boned, rose-mouthed face of her lost baby. The collar of Sally's schoolgirl pajamas stood up like a cheekless little boy's about her throat. Her mother smoothed it down. "You're lovely, my sweet Sally." Isabella Winter's mouth controlled a spasm. "You don't . . . hate me, do you?"

"Hate you? Why, Mother?"

"You might . . . fairly. I've given you a pretty raw deal. No home. No mother. No . . . no . . . love . . ."

"O, but you have. I always knew you gave me that."

One of the square dark hands was now across Mrs. Winter's eyes, the other clenched in the blanket cover. "I do, Sally. I always have, indeed. I've loved you . . . thought of you . . . most."

Sally came up from her covers like a rubber toy and on her knees hugged her mother, pressing down the black-gray head against her firm little breast with that fierce maternal protectiveness, quaint to see in the figure of a fair-haired pierrot. And, like Mary Culpepper's, the tired head of Caleb Winter's housekeeper submitted gratefully. It was good to be mothered after the bleak, untender years.

Sally was waked late next morning by the arrival of a breakfast tray in the hands of a pretty mulatto girl.

"I'se Early, Miss Sally. Yas'm," she chuckled with Sally, though without quite knowing the cause of mirth. "Yas'm . . . I'se named Early. I'se Mr. Charles' cousin's little gal chile. I'se been broken in heah jus recent fo to serve yo, Miss Sally. Now youse to give me ohdehs jus wha's special to you. Yo trunk done rived here lately last ebenin and Sam waits on you walkin' fo' to fetch him in. Yo got in ill dressin' room handy to yo ownsy self . . . wif so many drawers and shelves as a bride. Se enough youse goin' to be a proud ill miss, Ma'am."

Sally ate her breakfast and chatted, dressing afterward with speed. "Is Mother up?" she asked.

"Sholy. Your Mother she ain no layabed mawnins." Early went sober. "Now she down with Mr. Marr, Miss Sally. It's de readin of Mr. Winter's will, yas'm. And Mrs. Winter say she's shutted in away in Mr. Winter's work-an'-orderin' room. Bes' you not go apokin round. They's awful solemn . . . them latest wills and ligaments."

Sally avoided the work-and-ordering room, going out quickly through the glass doors of the hall opposite her last night's entrance. Just outside she stopped. Tulips. White, yellow, scarlet, purple-black, a world of sunlit tulips. They nodded toward her. Beyond them ran the foam of dogwood trees and further she could see through lovely vistas the long green meadows with their dark groves . . . going down with all the ancient dignity of meadows to the river.

Coming back again into the house by its front door she heard a bell ringing. It was being frantically pressed. She hurried past the closed door to the left and, after an instant of hesitation, mounted slowly up the stairs. Perhaps she had better keep to her own room until they called her. She was half way up the first flight when a maid and a man came running out into the hall. The closed door popped open. A man's sharp, frightened voice bespoke them.

"Grace . . . Henry . . . what in heaven's name has kept you? Couldn't you hear that bell? Come here quickly . . . you must help Mrs. Winter. She . . . I fear . . . she has been taken very ill."

Down the stairs Sally dropped with the unconscious speed of dreams, and saw her mother carried out by both servants, her head hanging, her face darkly distorted, unable, it seemed, to focus her bloodshot open eyes. Sally cried out to the little tightfaced gentleman who emerged just behind them, "O, what's the matter? Tell me, please, what's wrong? What did you do to make her look like this?"

The little man spoke tartly but with considerable sympathy. "It was the shock . . . I've sent for a doctor, Miss Keyne. Please come down here as soon as you are able to leave your mother. I must have an urgent and important talk with you."

That sour sweet flavor of secret information had become too sharp even for the acidic taste of Joseph Marr. This workroom of Caleb's former housekeeper had, for Marr, several ghosts, but he now wished, even to brushing the recollection from his shaggy brows, that it had not been possessed by what he had just seen: this solid, steady woman pushing herself before him at the desk edge on both her broad, strong hands. "Let me see the words," she had said thickly, "let me see Caleb's words." And, having seen them, she had slumped down to her knees, then to the floor.

Be Kind to Your Feet if You Desire Light and Youthful Step

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

To walk gracefully and youthfully, with a light, springy step, should be the ambition of every woman. In order to achieve this she must be kind to her feet.

If you have abused your feet and now find painful corns and callouses retarding your gait, why not take yourself to a chiropodist and have the blemishes removed? If you're not wearing the right kind of shoes, be fitted to shoes that are a perfect fit. Without this formality you're bound to find yourself always two feet from comfort, no matter how careful you may be otherwise. Properly fitted shoes are the basis of all foot comfort.

The feet should be kept scrupulously clean. They should have their daily scrubbing with soap, water, and a brush. After a good scrubbing let them have the tonic benefits of a cold shower, or turn on the cold water faucet and let the cold water run on them for a minute or so. Following this, dry them thoroughly, giving particular attention to the areas between the toes.

A foot powder sprinkled between the toes will insure thorough drying. A little of this same powder sprinkled into the shoes makes for further foot comfort. Have several pairs of shoes that you may alternate, never wearing the same pair two days in succession. This allows for an airing between wearings and adds greatly to foot comfort.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Pomander balls were an ancient fancy of perfume lovers. Cardinal Wolsey, we're told, was fond of them, he had them hung in his rooms and swung before him as he walked abroad. Queen Elizabeth used to carry one about with her.

One of the greatest perfumers America has produced, a woman whose fine fragrances, scented lackers and friction lotions all have the perfection achieved by skill and love of one's work, has revived the quaint fancy. She makes pomander balls spicy and aromatic, that are irresistible.

There may be some people who don't like the warm, rich scent of all spice, but we wouldn't know about them. We're crazy about it ourselves and so are all our friends. It's a fragrance that combines lushness with freshness—and that's quite a trick.

The pomander balls this perfumer makes are closely studded with cloves and are made from a sixteenth century formula. The balls themselves keep indefinitly, but the scent should be renewed from time to time. Each is packed in a box that contains a vial of the spice scent. They're rather stunning, these brown balls, suspended from colorful silk ribbons. Some even have bright bead danglers. They're decorative in certain types of rooms—and, of course, charmingly aromatic.

You can use them to perfume a room or a clothes or linen closet. We are especially partial to them for scenting linens.

These pomander balls deserve a place on your Christmas shopping list.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Judge for Yourself

Feather Hats Are Ideal with Brown Outfits

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Feathered headlines that go places despite all game laws are providing excitement for those with the right appreciation of stunning headgear.

The first time presented these do make a magnificent showing. The bronze brown is especially effective with either black or brown clothes and with brown fur trim on slim black coats or suits.

It's a new stunt, this smooth treatment of pheasant feathers carefully and expertly applied to smart winter hats. High Russian looking turbans, snappy little pill-boxes, three cornered high hats and sailors are featured. Every inch of the hats, top, brims, and crowns, is beautifully made of millions of tiny overlapping pheasant feathers in glinting tones of bronze brown with the natural small lines of black accent.

Some of the small pill-boxes are trimmed with a slanting bow of either brown or black velvet ribbon, others have veils peppered with pin point dots of black or brown, and one dashing sailor has a sky scraping long quill, probably a tail feather; shooting through the shallow crown at an angle of almost forty-five degrees.

Until you've seen these new arrivals, you won't realize how different and highly decorative such feathered tops can be. While they're not inexpensive, they unquestionably are new enough, daring enough and flattering enough to justify ownership. They're the answer to what to wear with either brown fur coats or brown fur trimmed black coats, if you balk at another fur trimmed hat.

"White House" Is Pieced Quilt of the 1865 Period

White House

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"White House" is one of the old pieced patterns and was designed shortly after 1865. It is fundamentally a four patch pattern, but one of the most elaborate examples of that type. Two shades of blue and white are combined with a deep ecru, but the effect of the various wings of the White House is readily seen in the completed block. The pieced blocks are set together to form an all-over design. Individual taste may allow these blocks to be set together with plain white ones in an alternate arrangement. Either way, the completed coverlet is one of outstanding beauty. The squares are large, measuring 15 inches, and only forty-two are required for a spread measuring 90 by 105 inches.

versity of California at Los Angeles. The wedding probably will take place this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Orr and Miss Ellen Adair Orr are giving a small dinner party on the evening of Saturday, Oct. 31, for Miss Mary Paul Welling, debutante daughter of the John Paul Wellings.

Muriel Picher to Wed C. R. Arnold on Dec. 29.

Twice a winter is the usual number of times Mrs. Picher Purcell has crossed the Atlantic in the last three years while she has been studying at the Sorbonne in Paris, but she will make no fewer than four crossings during the coming season. Mrs. Purcell's extra round trip will bring her home on Christmas eve for the wedding five days later of her sister, Miss Muriel Picher, to Charles Robert Arnold of Syracuse, N. Y.

When Mrs. Oliver S. Picher announced her younger daughter's engagement to the easterner last month, it was believed that Mrs. Purcell would be absent from the wedding, but the sisters are too devoted to let an ocean stand between them on such an occasion as Miss Muriel's wedding, so arrangements were made for the extra voyage. The wedding will take place in Christ church, Winnetka, on the afternoon of Dec. 29, with a reception following at Mrs. Picher's home in Glencoe, and Mrs. Purcell is to be the matron of honor.

Miss Picher and Mrs. Purcell are going east Wednesday, the former to hunt for an apartment in Syracuse, where she and her bridegroom will set up housekeeping; the latter to sail Friday on the Normandie for France. Mrs. Purcell hopes to visit Italy before her classes start at the Paris university, but if she is not able to make the southern trip she will spend the few days before school settling her new apartment in Montparnasse.

Among the young women going abroad to study this winter none will have a gayer or more interesting time than Miss Sylvia Peter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Peter of Lake Forest. Like Mrs. Purcell, Miss Peter is going to take courses at the Sorbonne in Paris, but before she goes abroad she will visit in Westport, Conn., with her uncle and aunt, the Norman Masons, who lived in Paris for many years.

James W. Thornes to Give Preview of Miniature Rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ward Thorne are inviting their friends to an informal preview of thirty new architectural models on exhibit in gallery one of the Art institute on Thursday from 4 to 6 o'clock. The models, miniature period rooms, have been built under the supervision of Mrs. Thorne. They range from imposing rooms of the time of Henry VIII. and Louis XII. to that of Edward VIII. They will be open to the public from Friday until the middle of next April.

Mr Thorne will give a series of lectures on her models in Fullerton hall at 2 o'clock every Monday from next Monday through Nov. 22.

The Evanston Junior league will hold its opening fall meeting and luncheon at 12 o'clock today at the Georgian hotel in Evanston. Mrs. Hans Boehm, chairman of the league's dental dispensary, and Mrs. Gordon Channing, the education executive, have been appointed delegates to the Association of Junior Leagues of America's Welfare conference Nov. 1 to 5 at Milwaukee.

Miss Honor Merrell, Mrs. Glendon Gerlach, Mrs. Charles H. G. Kimball, and Mrs. M. D. Musgrave will be delegates from the Chicago Junior league to the conference. Mrs. Kimball is president of the Chicago league.

Schools and Banks to Close Tomorrow for Columbus Day

Columbus day, the 445th anniversary of the discovery of America, will be celebrated tomorrow. Chicago public schools and banks will remain closed.

The Illinois chapter of the order, Sons of Italy will meet at the Medinah club in the evening for a commemorative ceremony. Franco Fontana, Italian consul general, and representatives from other fraternal organizations of American citizens of Italian descent will attend. The Very Rev. Michael J. O'Connell, president of De Paul university, will deliver the principal address. A ball will follow the ceremony.

Church Now Faces Its Greatest Test, Episcopalians Told

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—A warning that "the church of God is on trial as never before in her history" was sounded today by the Rev. Dr. Ze Barney Phillips of Washington, D. C., president of the house of clerical and lay deputies of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States.

Dr. Phillips, who also is chaplain of the United States senate, spoke in connection with the fifty-second triennial general convention of the church, now in session here.

Double influences of Mammon and materialism have been "eating at the very heart of the church's life," Dr. Phillips declared. He asserted that the church's task is to emphasize the "more abundant life" with a "spiritual connotation."

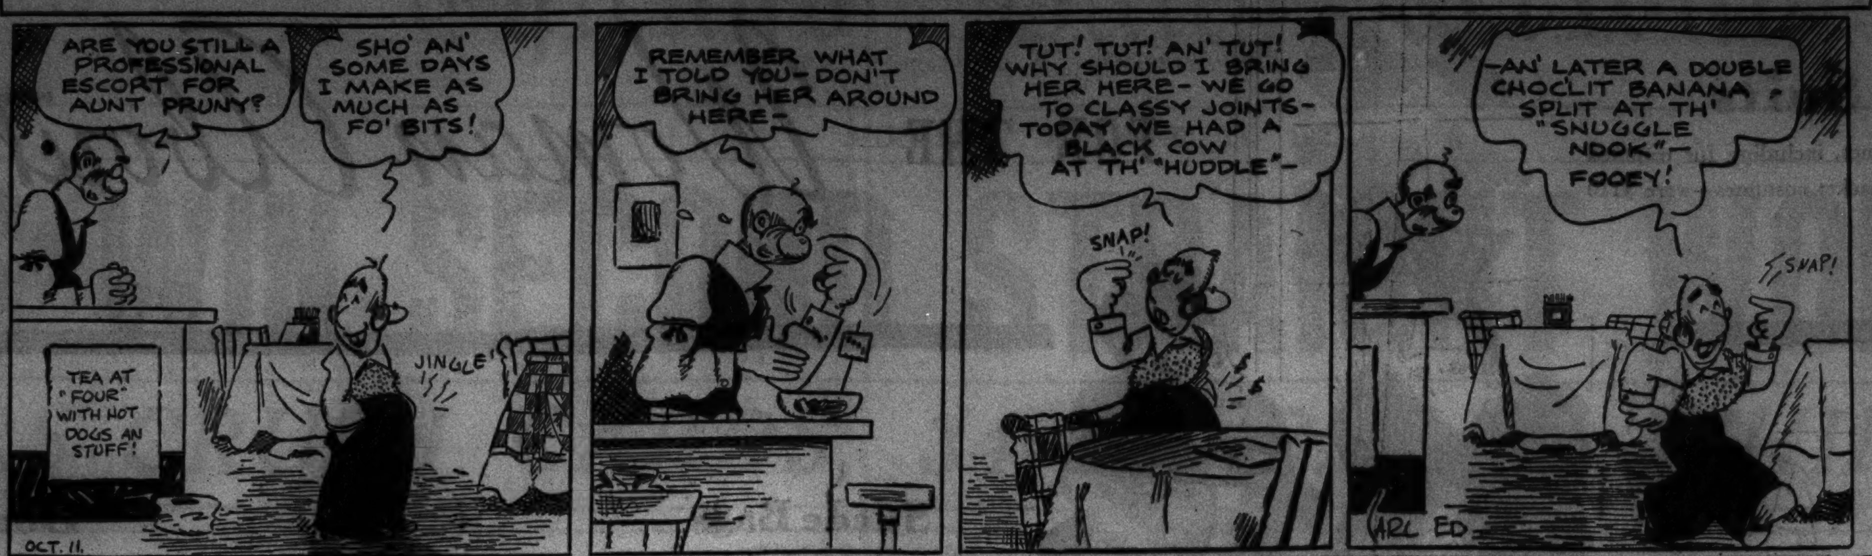
HAROLD TEEN—PATRONIZING PREFERRED PLACES



Cape Is Versatile Garment

WOMAN'S AND MISS' CAPE.

There's nothing smarter for fall, nor more adaptible, than the cape. It goes with almost everything in an autumn wardrobe, and lends just that correct amount of dash to woolen frocks. There's another thing about a cape which is decidedly on the asset side of the fashion ledger; it may be worn by any type of woman, young or matronly, slim or well rounded.

The model presented today has squared shoulders which make one appear broad through the neckline sector and contrastingly slim through the waist. It may be either long or short. It may be collarless or have an upstanding little military collar. It may fasten with a clasp or have two buttons for a tailored touch. Any type of woolen makes up well. The flat surfaced fabrics are, perhaps, best for dressy afternoon woolens and suits, while rough weaves and nubby woolens are grand for casual spectator sports costumes. Everybody likes capes, and we know you will want one, too.

Style No. 2023 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 1⅝ yards of 54 inch material, with 1¾ yards of 39 inch lining for the shorter length cape.

Main Dish Soup Receives Top Rating Today

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The introductory soup is the one which acts as a "come-on" at the beginning of a meal. It usually is served in a cup or small bowl, and the serving is small, to allow stomach room for what follows.

A main-dish soup may be very similar in composition [often it's somewhat heartier], but it's served in a big bowl and a refill is allowed. Main dish soup really is soup and no question about it.

Philadelphia Pepperpot Soup.

[Serves Ten.]

¾ pound fresh honeycomb tripe
4 tablespoons butter
¼ cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons flour
7 cups strained veal stock
6 peppercorns
2 bay leaves
3 whole cloves
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
½ teaspoon Tobasco sauce
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup diced celery
2 cups diced potatoes
1 cup diced carrots

Cut tripe in small pieces. Heat fat and add onion. Cook to a golden brown. Add flour and blend thoroughly. Add tripe stock, and spices tied in a cheesecloth bag. Cook for half an hour at simmering temperature. Add remaining ingredients and simmer for an hour longer. Remove bag of spices and serve the soup.

Other meat stock may be substituted for the veal stock, which is simply broth drained from the veal after cooking. Stock may be kept in the refrigerator for some time, so that this soup may be made several days or a week after serving a veal stew or soup.

Oyster stew is one of the simplest and best soups to be served at this time of year. There is only one precaution to take; not to heat the oysters to the boiling point. A boiled oyster is a tough oyster, every time.

Oyster Stew.

[Serves Six.]

1 pint oysters
1 quart milk
½ pint coffee cream
Salt, pepper

Drain off oyster liquor and save it. Place oysters in a strainer, pour cold water over them and examine each to be sure it is free from shell and sand. Place with the liquor in a saucepan, add water to cover, and heat to simmering. Simmer until edges of oysters curl. Skim and pour over the oysters the milk and cream which have been heated to scalding and seasoned with salt and pepper. Serve at once with toasted crackers.

Oyster stew may be made even more simply by heating the oysters in milk, but there is a chance that the milk will be overheated and the flavor is, perhaps, inferior. A teaspoonful of butter may be added to each serving of soup.

Split pea soup is an inexpensive but nutritious hot luncheon dish and, when combined with canned tomatoes, the flavor is improved, at least in my opinion. A bit of fat salt pork might be added to this recipe, too, for flavor's sake. The pork would be simmered with the peas and onion.

Purée of Mongol Soup.

[Serves Four.]

½ cup dried split peas
2 cups canned tomatoes
2 cups meat stock or 2 bouillon cubes dissolved in 2 cups hot water
1 small onion, sliced
Salt, pepper

Soak the peas over night, then simmer slowly with the onion until tender. Sieve with the tomatoes and heat the purée with the stock. Season and serve hot.

According to CULBERTSON

Mr. Culbertson is conducting, through his column, a national examination of bridge players. Rate yourself by subtracting from 100 the points for each wrong answer. Or mail answers to Mr. Culbertson, care of The Tribune, and at the end of the examination he will send you a personal certificate with your mark and bridge classification.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

Questions 5 and 6 in the National Self-Rating Bridge Examination appeared on Friday. They were:

Question 5. Both sides vulnerable. You are South, the dealer, and hold:

♠ A K J 5 ♥ A J 10 ♦ A Q 4 ♣ K 10 8.

What call do you make?

Answer. You should bid two no trump. Your top strength, distribution, and tenace positions are ideal for this particular "urging" bid. You cannot make nine tricks if partner's hand is a blank, but you do want to impress him with the potential value of a couple of queens that he may hold. [Two points demerit for an opening suit bid of one or two; three points demerit for an opening bid of one or three no trump.]

..Question 6. Both sides vulnerable. You are North. Your partner [South] dealt and bid one club. Next hand passed. You hold:

♠ 7 5 3 2 ♥ 6 4 3 ♦ K J 8 6 5 ♣ 7.

What call do you make?

Answer. The correct response is one diamond. True, you have a poor hand, but you are able to show your suit at the one level, and thus possibly pave the way to a one spade or one heart rebid by South, either of which suits you greatly prefer to clubs. To respond with one no trump, thus showing artificially that you have a weak hand, is to suppress information that can be cheaply conveyed, and to make it expensive for partner to rebid. [Two points demerit for any response other than one diamond.]

TODAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 7. Both sides vulnerable. You are South. North, your partner, dealt and bid two no trump. East passed. Your holding is:

♠ Q 4 2 ♥ A J 6 ♦ K 7 3 ♣ 7 5 4 3.

What call do you make?

Question 8. Both sides vulnerable. You are South, the dealer. Your hand is:

♠ A Q 10 5 ♥ A J 4 3 2 ♦ 2 ♣ 10 6 4.

What call do you make and why?

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 diam's	3 hearts	Double	4 clubs
Pass	Pass	4 diam's	Pass
5 diam's	Pass	6 diam's [final bid]

North's slam bid was, in effect, "trapping" his own partner. After South passed the four club bid around for North's decision North merely urged that a game be reached by raising diamonds to four odd. Then, when South bid game, North inconsistently found another bid in his own hand. On this particular occasion, however, North's luck was at high tide. Not only were the opponents' cards beautifully placed for the declarer, but the latter was adroit enough to capitalize this condition.

West opened his top club. East won, and returned the nine of spades. [No other return could have affected the final result.] Dummy won, and declarer ruffed a heart, then ruffed his remaining club in dummy. He ruffed another heart and ran off every trump. Coming down to two cards, West was squeezed. In order to retain the heart ace he had to unguard the spade queen. Dummy, discarding after West, held on to only the ace and deuce of spades. A low spade lead dropped West's blank queen, and declarer's jack took the fulfilling trick.

eral music project, came from Washington to conduct the first concert.

An audience large enough to break previous box office records filled the hall almost to capacity, and responded to the program with enthusiasm. Much to the advantage of the orchestra's tone, the acoustics and appearance of the stage have been improved by the construction of new green walls and ceiling of agreeable design.

Dr. Sokoloff and the orchestra devoted their chief attention to Rachmaninoff's second symphony, a work of which Dr. Sokoloff has long been a noted interpreter. An audience, many of whose members were already familiar with Frederick Stock's transfiguring command of this symphony found in Dr. Sokoloff's reading a comparable eloquence and unifying insight. The slow movement in particular was played with consummate beauty of line and a poignant, almost vocal expressiveness of tone. The orchestra has never played so well before.

The symphony was followed by two novelties, John Powell's zestful folkish tune, "The Banjo Picker," orchestrated by Modest Altschuler of California, and two movements from "Horizons," a suite by Arthur Shepherd of Cleveland based upon cowboy melodies.

Erika Thimey and her dance group of ten girls appeared at the Goodman theater last night, presenting a new cycle entitled "To the Elements." Miss Thimey's dancing belongs on that maudlin fringe of art sometimes called self-expression, and seems to obey no known canons of modern or classic dance.

Mariona Rakauskas, American born dramatic soprano of the Lithuanian State Opera in Kaunas, Lithuania, sang in the Studebaker theater last night, accompanied by John Byanskas. Her voice is effective in a wiry way, but she has not perfected her means of production nor her vocabulary of tonal color. A large audience enjoyed her program, sung entirely in Lithuanian, and also welcomed the pleasant playing of Birute Sarpalius, pianist.

New Community House Dedicated by Anshe Emet

The new community house of Anshe Emet synagogue was dedicated yesterday with ceremonies in the synagogue, Pine Grove avenue and Grace street. Exercises in connection with the dedication were started Friday and will continue through Wednesday. Prof. Louis Finkelstein, head of the Jewish Theological seminary of New York City, was the principal speaker at the ceremonies yesterday.

Opera Guild Names Mrs. Bertha Baur to Head Box Committee

More than 100 patrons and friends of opera attended the first meeting of the newly formed Opera Guild yesterday at the Lake Shore Athletic club. It was announced that Mrs. Bertha Baur will serve as chairman of the box committee for the season of the Chicago City Opera company opening Oct. 30 and ending Dec. 18.

The speakers praised the administration of Joseph F. Whitney, president of the company, and Paul Longone, general manager of the opera. Among the speakers were Mrs. Baur, Mr. Whitney, Mr. Longone, Robert Hall McCormick, John H. Wigmore, dean emeritus of the Northwestern university law school.

It was pointed out that if 2½ per cent of Chicago's population attends at least one opera during the season the opera will be a success.

GREEN BAY SETS SEASON'S HIGH SCORING RECORD

Tinsley, Coffee Make Chicago Points.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 10.—Football befitting their status as defending champions of the National league today enabled the Green Bay Packers to defeat the Chicago Cardinals, 34 to 13, in Milwaukee's annual one day professional demonstration. A capacity crowd of 16,181 saw the game.

Combining a finely coördinated running attack and accurate passing with the Cardinals' lethargy on defense, the Packers scored four touchdowns and two field goals, piling up the largest score of the National league season.

The Cardinals, saved from a complete rout by the sensational Gaynell Tinsley, were entirely at the mercy of the champions, who with two defeats and one victory battled doggedly to attain a .500 rating and remain in the pennant race.

Tinsley Catches Six Passes.

Tinsley who, as the starting end in the Tribune's All-Star game defeated the Packers on a 40 yard run with a pass, again was the outstanding performer on the field. He caught eight of the 11 passes the Cardinals completed, gaining 148 yards and scoring one touchdown.

But Tinsley alone was no match for the Packers, who piled up 13 first downs, 345 yards from scrimmage, and completed seven of 13 passes on a bewildered Cardinal secondary.

Full Back Hal Pangle's fumble of a bad pass from center on the first play of the game, paved the way for the Packers' first score, a field goal from the 17 yard line by Clark Hinkle. Arnie Herber, doing his first passing since he suffered a shoulder injury in the All-Star game, threw a 12 yard forward pass to Milt Gantenbein for a touchdown on the first play in the second quarter, culminating a 68 yard march.

Laws Starts Three Drives.

Later in the period Hinkle went over from the one-half yard line on fourth down to wind up a 48 yard march and in the waning minutes of the period Bobby Monnett passed 17 yards to Bernie Scherer for a third score. This pass ended a 66 yard march. Joe Laws started each of these three touchdown drives with 12 yard returns of punts.

Three plays after they had taken the ball from the Cardinals in the third period, the Packers made it 31 to 7, when Eddie Jankowski, a teammate of Tinsley's on the All-American squad, spun over the Cardinals' left guard and went 46 yards down the side lines. Tiny Engebretsen, veteran guard, added the last three points with a place kick from the 25 yard line, late in the third period.

Cardinals Score Twice.

The Cardinals made only two scoring gestures, going over both times. The first one came in the second quarter when, trailing 10 to 0, they took the kickoff after Gantenbein's touchdown and marched 70 yards to their first score. George Grosvenor got away on a 28 yard run off tackle, and passed 29 yards to Tinsley. Tinsley had advanced 34 yards to the Packers' nine yard line, but his attempted lateral went forward before it was fumbled and recovered by the Packers. The Cardinals were given the ball with a five yard penalty.

This made it first down on the 15 yard line. The Cardinals were penalized 15 yards for holding and Grosvenor lost three more attempting to pass, moving the ball back to the 33 yard line. On third down, he passed to Tinsley who ran hither and yon

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

WHEN the White Sox clinched third place by winning the first half of a double-header at St. Louis the last day of the season Manager Jimmy Dykes decided to relax. . . . He turned over the team to Coach Billy Webb for the second game. . . . In the fourth inning, with two on and none out, Monty Stratton, before stepping to the plate, asked Dykes what he should do. . . . "Pay no attention to signals, just hit the ball," Dykes suggested. . . . When Stratton came into the batter's box Webb, coaching at third, gave him the sign to bunt. . . . Billy's face turned red when Stratton lined a single to left field. . . . Later Webb learned he had been the victim of one of Dykes' pranks. . . . Miss Jean Fletcher, daughter of Art Fletcher, New York Yankee coach, is a freshman at Illinois Wesleyan. . . .

Football rules were changed to take care of Larry Kelley and the size of ball parks was changed to fit Babe Ruth's admirers. . . . Let's see, where are those two fellows now? . . . Not until her young brother wrote an essay for his high school professor on "Why I Admire Ward Cuff" did it become known that Dorris Bridgen, a Milwaukee girl, had been secretly married to the star full back of Marquette's 1936 football team. . . . Cuff now is with the New York Giants. . . . Fred Leinwebber, former Calumet High school athlete, wasted little time establishing himself at Morgan Park Junior college. . . . He enrolled on Wednesday, reported for football on Thursday, and played 59 minutes in Morgan Park's opening game the following Saturday. . . . De Paul and Illinois, which played to a scoreless tie a week ago Saturday, will meet again in 1938. . . . Jim McAlvin, champion of Kildeer Country club, was low and high man in the champion of champions event of the Chicago District Golf association at Northmoor recently. . . . He scored a deuce on the first hole, 400 yards, and took 10 on the 540 yard 16th. . . .

Cleveland, O., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Climaxing a brilliant performance with a 55 yard touchdown run by Edgar Manske just as the game ended, the Chicago Bears scored their third straight National Professional football league victory today by defeating the Cleveland Rams, 20 to 2.

The Bears now lead the circuit, being the only undefeated team.

The game, played on a wet field and in a drizzle during the third period and part of the fourth, drew a crowd of only 5,000 and resulted in the Rams' fourth setback in five league starts. A victory over Philadelphia is the only credit mark on their slate.

Rams Lack Power.

Playing a listless offensive game, the Rams failed to carry the ball over on four tries from the Bears' 1 yard line in the fourth period. They scored their only points in three games when Bob Snyder spilled Beattie Feathers behind the Bears' goal line for a safety near the end of the game.

Two Bear charges were halted inside the Rams' 10 yard line in the opening period, but the Chicagoans launched an aerial attack early in the second quarter that produced a touchdown. A series of line thrusts and lateral passes moved the ball from the Bears' 43 to the Rams' 29 and a forward pass, Masterson to McDonald, gained 11 to the Rams' 18. Masterson then tossed to McDonald over the goal line for a touchdown.

Jack Manders, who played a great game on defense and kicked two field goals, added the extra point.

A few minutes later Bernie Masterson started the Bears on their way again by intercepting a pass hurled by Bill Cooper on the Rams' 46 yard line. Two passes, Doehring to McDonald and Doehring to Molesworth, brought the ball to the 11, but three line plunges failed to pick up any yardage. Manders then kicked a field goal.

Manders Drops Touchdown Pass.

In the third quarter Ronzani recovered Drake's fumble on the Rams' 29 yard line and tossed a pass to Manders over the goal line, but Jack dropped the ball.

Later in the same period Manders again exhibited his kicking ability with a field goal from the Cleveland 25 yard line.

A pass, Snyder to Alfonse, was good for 59 yards in the fourth period and gave the Rams the ball on the Bears' 6 yard line. Alfonse was in the clear when he caught the pass, but was tackled from behind by Manders and Manske.

A pass, Snyder to Pincura, gained ten yards after Alfonse had lost eight on a wide end run, and then a short

Rain Halts Cubs-Sox Series; Play at Comiskey Park Today

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Either the White Sox or the Cubs escaped a beating and the treasury departments of the two clubs lost out on what probably would have developed into a neat bundle of cash yesterday. It happened this way because rain intervened and forced cancellation of the fifth game of the city series, scheduled for Wrigley field, home of the National leaguers.

Now the athletes involved in this local baseball strife must return to Comiskey park today to resume the warfare which currently is deadlocked at two victories apiece. Tomorrow's game also will be played in the south side yard, and if the argument is not definitly concluded by four victories for one side or the other, the battle will return to Wrigley field for a seventh game Wednesday.

Stratton Faces Carleton.

Lanky Monty Stratton, who would have worked for the Sox, and Tex Carleton, who was to have performed for the Cubs, if the rain had not arrived shortly after the contending gents had donned their uniforms yesterday, will be the starting pitchers today.

It will be Carleton's second appearance in the present series, and the White Sox need hark no further back than last Wednesday's inaugural contest on their own grounds to remember the young man's talents. On that occasion Tex, making his debut as a city series starter, held them to five hits, and fanned five of them, allowing only one earned run in accomplishing a 7 to 3 victory.

Stratton, the White Sox pitching hero until an ailing arm benched him early in August, returned to action at the close of the regular season, pitching a relief inning against Cleveland, and being credited with his fifteenth victory of the year in an abbreviated contest against St. Louis. Monty hankers to prove to Boss James Dykes that he has recovered by setting down the Cubs after the fashion of his predecessors in the series, Vernon Kennedy and John Whitehead.

Berger Replaces Piet.

The lineups will remain the same with one exception. That will be in the White Sox third base spot, where Boze Berger will replace Tony Piet. The latter, who has been in all manner of hot water since the opening of the series, including a couple of baseline crashes and being hit by a pitcher twice yesterday, turned up with a knee boil. Berger probably will be dropped to seventh position in the batting order, with Jackie Hayes returning to his leadoff rôle, which had been taken by Piet at the outset of the series.

The competition of the first four games finds the Cubs leading in batting, with a team average of .259, against their south side foes' .258. The Sox staged a hitting revival in winning the fourth game and evening the series Saturday. In the first game, Carleton had put them on a diet of five hits to give the Cubs their first decision in the civil war since the sixth game of the 1931 series.

French Was Too Good.

The Sox managed to collect nine hits off of Curt Davis and Charley Root to support Kennedy's three hit pitching in the second game. Then they folded up before Larry French in the third, collecting only four hits. The Sox offensive then came to life in Saturday's battle, producing sixteen hits, only two short of their combined total in the three preceding games.

Meanwhile Whitehead was holding the Cubs to seven hits. His chief tormentor was the youthful Phil Cavarretta, who made four singles. Philip has not only fielded well, but has hit seven times in 17 appearances for an average of .412. He is topped only by Billy Herman, who leads the Cubs in the series with .438, based on seven wallops in 16 times at bat. Rip Radcliff, with .429, and Luke Appling, with .385, have been the most consistent Sox workmen. Zeke Bonura, who batted precisely .100 for the first three games, arose from his series slump Saturday by driving in four runs with a homer, a double and a single to boost his average to .267.

GOMEZ WHIPS GIANTS, 4 TO 2, IN FIFTH GAME

Di Maggio and Hoag Hit Home Runs.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 10.—Lefty Vernon Gomez, frequently called El Goofy, this afternoon supervised the windup of the 1937 world series when he and his Yanks trimmed the New York Giants, 4 to 2, in the fifth game for the baseball championship of the universe.

It was Gomez's second victory of the 1937 series. He won the opener 8 to 1—his fourth over the Giants last year and this, and his fifth in world series history, he having turned back Lon Warneke and the Cubs in the second game of the 1932 series.

For the first time in the series which ended this afternoon the Yanks turned on the long range power attack which was expected to feature the entire show. The first two runs, off Mickey Mouse Melton, the busted Giant freshman idol, were homers by Myril Hoag in the second and Joe Di Maggio in the third.

Ott Knocks Homer.

These two scores, however, were balanced when Mel Ott knocked the only Giant homer of the series, with Dick Bartell on base in the third inning.

The other two runs—the ones that gave the Yanks their second successive world championship, their third under Manager Joe McCarthy and their fifth in nine series—were scored as the Yanks took their last whack at Melton in the fifth inning. In this deciding session Tony Lazzeri slammed out one of the longest hits ever confined to the Polo Grounds, a triple that went 480 feet on the wing, and scored what proved to be the winning run on a single by Gomez. Gomez later scored the final run of the series on the first of two extra base hits, a double, by Capt. Lou Gehrig.

The game was played under unfavorable conditions. Cold and a morning rain had threatened postponement but cessation of the rain brought announcement at 12:30 o'clock that the game would be played. A crowd of 38,216 showed up and the total lifted the turnout for the five games to 238,142.

Yanks Make No Errors.

Today's contest was perhaps the most interesting of the series, possibly because the Giants were resigned and not frightened. The first three games were boresome, yesterday's was popular because Hubbell won and today's was interesting because it was close.

The Yanks supported the dopesters by winning decisively but their professional behavior crossed up many. It was supposed to be Yank power against skilled Giant defense. The Yanks made only four homers in the series and the ones today were the only ones that figured in the outcome. But the powerful Yanks set a new world series defensive record by not making an error in the series. No other team has played a series—four to seven games—without making at least one misplay. And the Giants, they of the sparkling defense, made nine scoreable errors and as many more errors of judgment and omission.

Melton Fans Dickey.

The Yanks got two runners on in the first inning, but Melton stopped progress with a strikeout. Crosetti lifted the first pitch to Moore then

BY WILFRID SMITH.

A football team that enters a game with the hope-you-don't-lose-too-badly condolences of its supporters is fortunate. This pregame sympathy, provided, of course, that the eleven is not completely outclassed, is certain proof against indifference. It leads frequently to performance none thought possible.

Nebraska provided a startling upset of opinion last week by whipping Minnesota. Saturday Illinois held Notre Dame to a scoreless tie. These results were based primarily on hard charging, determined defenses. And Nebraska and Illinois were stirred by the almost unanimous opinion of alumni and observers that neither could win.

Without detracting at all from Illinois' brilliant defense, it now should be added that Notre Dame apparently has been overestimated. This high opinion was logical because Notre Dame concluded last year's campaign successfully and there was line strength, so it was believed, behind which new backs could develop.

Coaches' Voices Aren't Heard.

Irish coaches expressed skepticism, but those remarks were lost in popular applause just as Bernie Bierman's candid appraisal of Minnesota at the beginning of the season was recorded as cautious comment and accepted as coaching custom.

Notre Dame suffers by comparison with Illinois in the fundamentals of blocking and tackling. Illinois linemen broke through, or evaded blockers, to prevent Notre Dame from connecting its spasmodic gains. Then, too, it probably is true that Notre Dame now needs an outstanding player to inspire the team.

Mechanical mistakes, such as fumbles, are not subject to criticism. No player ever dropped the ball purposely. Yet five fumbles in one game can't be regarded as championship football.

Zontini Has Drive.

Louis Zontini, who substituted at left half back for Notre Dame, played with more drive than any other back with the exception of Bunny McCormick. Notre Dame was not overconfident at Illinois. The Irish weren't beaten. But the Notre Dame spirit which whipped Ohio State two years ago, and the methodical, perfect play that cut down Northwestern last fall were missing. But then, perhaps these Irish boys can't play football like that. Carnegie Tech this week will help supply the answer.

Illinois, although regarding this scoreless tie as victory, may not equal this defensive play again. Certainly the attack will continue to need improvement. For the Illini have a rocky conference road in Indiana, Michigan, Northwestern, Ohio State and Chicago.

Chicago's game with Wisconsin Saturday may be dismissed with the comment that the Maroons, without reserves, and with only average material in the first place, must become accustomed to the monotony of defeat. Wisconsin's 27 to 0 victory, first conference triumph under Coach Harry Stuhldreher, will encourage the Badgers. Probably the game with Iowa this week should be considered an even fight. But Wisconsin's final four games will provide a better test of the Badgers' improvement.

Passes Help Northwestern.

Northwestern defeated its first conference opponent, Michigan, by successful forward passes. Michigan's ground attack and its line play promise trouble for all opponents. It would be only mildly surprising if Michigan held Minnesota to a scoreless tie or a touchdown margin, and by Saturday you may find some who will predict a Michigan victory.

For Minnesota, although beating an excellent Indiana eleven, 6 to 0, was hard pressed in the second half to maintain its margin. Minnesota's troubles may be chronic. Rudy Gmitro has been shifted to quarter back to support Vic Spadaccini. George Faust wasn't used at all. Coach Bierman still is experimenting at left tackle and at center, the latter position an all important one in Minnesota's secondary defense.

Northwestern Line Strong.

Northwestern's line attack is sufficiently strong to make passing profitable. Judged by the past two years, Northwestern's line will continue to develop. Saturday's engagement with Purdue may call for such improvement, for the Boilermakers rallied from disheartening defeat by Ohio State and whipped Carnegie Tech, 7 to 0. More important, Purdue stopped four goal line drives by Tech.

Ohio State, although losing 13 to 12, to Southern California, has established itself as the team most likely to win or share the Big Ten title. The Buckeyes have two weeks to prepare for Northwestern.

Pittsburgh avenged last year's defeat at the hands of Duquesne, winning 6 to 0. Pittsburgh scored a first period touchdown and successfully defended that lead. While Pitt continues to be a favorite in the east, Yale definitly proved its strength by defeating Pennsylvania, 27 to 7, and Cornell showed that its overwhelming victory over Colgate was a highly deserved one by trouncing Princeton, 20 to 7.

Michigan State Upset.

Manhattan's 3 to 0 defeat of Michigan State was the upset in the east. For the third year Michigan State has followed a pattern of losing when least expected. Washington, defending champion in the Pacific Coast conference, fell before an aroused Oregon State team, 6 to 3. This defeat now leaves California, which defeated Washington State, 27 to 0, as favorite in the championship race.

Duke and Tennessee, two of the south's strongest elevens, played a scoreless tie. The defending champion, Louisiana State, whipped Rice in a nonconference game, 13 to 0.

Bears Defeat Rams, 20-2, for Third Victory

Bear Line Stands Firm.

With four downs to pick up a yard, a Ram touchdown appeared inevitable, but the Bear line held. The Bears took the ball on downs and Feathers went behind his goal line to punt. The pass from center was low and Feathers fumbled. He was tackled by Snyder just as he recovered for a safety.

Mattos was busy pitching low passes down the field with the game about to end when Manske cut in front of Uzdavinis and caught the ball. Weaving around two potential tacklers, he sprinted 55 yards for a touchdown just as the gun sounded. Manders again kicked the extra point.

The Bears piled up 287 yards on line plunges and passes to 128 yards for the Rams.

LIONS BEAT PIRATES, 7-3

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 10.—(AP)—A 78 yard march for a touchdown late in the third period enabled the Detroit Lions to come from behind and defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7 to 3, in a National Professional Football league battle before 16,000 today.

Ernie Caddel, fleet Detroit half back, went over for the score from the two yard line, racing around right end. The Pirates scored 15 seconds before the first half ended when Armand Niccolai, substitute tackle, kicked an 11 yard field goal from placement from a difficult angle.

The victory was Detroit's third in four starts. It was the third setback for the Pirates in five games. Detroit had a big margin in statistics, making 14 first downs to 8 for the Pirates and gaining a total of 230 yards to 153 for the Pirates. The line-up:

Packers Crush Cards, 34-13; Season's High

The second Cardinal touchdown was set up on the last four plays of the third quarter, Pat Coffee, a rookie from Louisiana State, who apparently will fill the Cardinals' need for a passer, threw four passes. Tinsley caught two, one for 32 yards and one for 39, placing the ball on the 2 yard line. Coffee failed to gain on the first play of the fourth period, but went over inside the Packers' left tackle on the second. Bill May, another rookie from Louisiana state, who kicked the first extra point, missed the second.

Statistics on the game minimize Green Bay's true superiority. They indicate that the Cardinals might have had a chance. Held to a net of 83 yards on the ground and total gains from scrimmage of 272 yards, the Cardinals made 13 first downs, as many as the Packers. The Packers gained 107 yards on 8 completed passes in 13 attempts. The Cardinals completed 11 of 26 passes for a total of 189 yards. Penalties were frequent, the Packers having been set back 45 yards and the Cardinals 50.

Butler Shows Real Punch in Hoosier Race

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Butler university expects little trouble next Saturday when it meets Evansville college at Indianapolis. Evansville has not won a game this season, while Butler routed Valparaiso university, previously undefeated, 33 to 0. Butler is defending its fourth consecutive Indiana intercollegiate conference title.

Evansville looked weak against Wabash college yesterday, as Wabash won 19 to 0 for its first victory this year. Wabash expects stiff competition from an improving and undefeated Earlham college team at Richmond next Saturday. Earlham yesterday defeated Bluffton college 2 to 0.

DePauw Shows Strength.

DePauw university continued to show power yesterday in crushing Franklin college 41 to 6. Last year Franklin won 6 to 2. DePauw next Saturday plays Ball State Teachers college at Greencastle. Ball State Teachers yesterday showed itself the class of Hoosier normal schools by defeating Central Normal college 26 to 0. Central Normal plays Oakland City next Saturday at Danville. Oakland City yesterday lost to Charleston Teachers of Illinois 39 to 0.

Hanover college yesterday remained undefeated by stopping Indiana State Teachers 13 to 6. Hanover will rest next Saturday while Indiana State plays Franklin at Franklin.

Manchester Wins Easily.

Manchester college defeated Aurora college 55 to 0 in the only other Hoosier game. St. Joseph's college game with Rose Polytechnic institute at Terre Haute completes next Saturday's schedule:

St. Thomas Wins, 14 to 7, from St. Mary's of Texas

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 10.—(AP)—With Adam Stephanek, half back, scampering away for two touchdowns, St. Thomas college defeated St. Mary's of San Antonio [Tex.] 14 to 7 on a muddy gridiron today. St. Mary's scored late in the fourth period with four passes that netted 80 yards.

Picard and Nelson Beat Argentine Golf Pros, 1 Up

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Henry Picard and Byron Nelson, United States golf pros, opened their tour today by defeating the Argentine professionals, Antonio Perez and Enrique Bertolini, 1 up in a four ball exhibition match at the San Andres Golf club. KALAMAZOO TIED WITH HOPE, ALMA IN MICHIGAN RACE

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—With a single victory each, Kalamazoo, Hope, and Alma are tied for the Michigan college conference leadership. Adrian and Olivet have been beaten by conference teams, but are not competing in the title race this year, Olivet using freshmen to develop them for the future, while Adrian, new conference member, does not officially start competition until basketball.

Friday Kalamazoo meets Bluffton of Ohio, Adrian meets Albion, and Alma meets Michigan Normal in nonconference games. Saturday Hope meets Ferris and Hillsdale plays Olivet.

ARGENTINE POLO PLAYERS DEFEAT MEXICANS, 8 TO 6

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 10.—(AP)—The San Jose polo team of Argentina defeated a Mexican quartet, 8 to 6, today and evened the series between the two teams at a game apiece.

Heriderto Duggan, who starred for the San Jose quartet in the United States, led the San Jose attack. The Argentines jumped into the lead in the first chukker and held it thereafter despite repeated Mexican challenges. Duggan scored four times, but was matched by Gracia of the losers, who also got four goals.

West Suburbans Win in Field Hockey Match, 3 to 1

The West Suburban women's field hockey team defeated the Midway team, 3 to 1, at Jackson park yesterday. Both clubs are members of the Midwest Field Hockey association. Next Sunday the West Suburban girls will meet North Shore at Skokie. League games are played at 10 a. m. every Sunday on the Jackson park field.

Eagles Defeat Redskins, 14-0; Hewitt Scores

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles cashed in on their only two scoring opportunities today to win their first National Professional league football game from Washington, 14 to 0. The Redskins wasted a half dozen touchdown chances before a crowd of 15,000.

The Eagles scored in the first period on a pass from Smukler to Hewitt, after a previous pass from Mortell to Hewitt to Kusko had carried 35 yards to the 20 yard line. Reese's placement was good. In the final quarter, Harper intercepted Dixie Howell's pass and ran it back 20 yards for a touchdown. Smukler place kicked the extra point.

Baugh Fails to Connect.

The Redskins used Passer Sammy Baugh sparingly until late in the third period and then his usually accurate tosses were badly off line. Howell, another famed passer, had no better luck with his tosses when he replaced Baugh. The Redskins threatened four times in the second period, going to the Eagles' 35, 11, 25, and 3 yard lines before being halted.

Surprising with a combination of the old wedge play and the Carlisle Indians' hidden ball trick, Big Turk Edwards gained 60 yards before the Eagles finally found he had the ball and stopped him.

Giants Lead Division.

The defeat bumped Washington out of a tie with the New York Giants for first place in the eastern division.

CATHOLIC BEATS LA SALLE, 27 TO 12; PENALTIES HELP

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Catholic university piled up a 27 to 12 victory today over La Salle college, aided by four penalties against La Salle on forward pass interference. A La Salle substitute dashed from the bench to the field during a play to add to the furor.

La Salle, its plays working smoothly, had a 6 to 0 lead at the end of the first period, scored on a 54 yard run by Paul Donahue. Then Catholic university took to the air. Four times the referee ruled La Salle players interfered with pass receivers and gave the ball to the Cardinals at the point of interference. Each time Catholic university drove down the field for a touchdown.

The La Salle substitute who ran onto the field was Frank Loughney. Catholic university was advancing the ball and Loughney attempted to tackle Victor Sochon, the Cardinal captain. Officials and other players quieted a disturbance and Loughney was called back to the bench.

Rolfe lined a single to left. Whitehead made a nice dash far into center to get Di Maggio's fly after which Rolfe reached second on a wild pitch, then Gehrig walked. Dickey was called out after a 2 and 2 count.

The Giants developed a bigger first inning threat than that of the Yanks, but it meant the same kind of a zero on the scoreboard. Moore socked Gomez's first pitch for a single to left, lingered on first while Bartell fanned and Ott whiffed, but went to third on Ripple's single to center. Then Leiber popped to Gehrig.

Hoag opened the second inning with a homer, not much of a swat, which would have been caught in most any other major league park. Whitehead threw out Selkirk, Lazzeri was called out on strikes, and Gomez fanned.

Di Maggio Knocks Homer.

McCarthy grounded to Lazzeri at the start of the Giant second, after which Danning, hitting star of yesterday's game, took three strikes, each after the ball was well past him. Whitehead dumped a double near the right foul line. Gehrig, making a hard try on the ball, crashed into the right field wall, which ought to give you some idea of the Polo Grounds. Melton fanned.

Crosetti and Rolfe were called out on strikes at the start of the third to give Melton four strikeouts in a row. Di Maggio then knocked one which was still rising when it hit the foul marker atop the left field stand. Melton made it three strikeouts for three innings when he got Gehrig.

The Giants tied the score in the third. After Crosetti had gone into center for Moore's fly, Bartell singled to left and scored ahead of Ott when Mel lined a homer into the upper deck in deep right center. Ripple popped to Crosetti and Leiber lined to Di Maggio.

Lazzeri Hits Triple.

Dickey fouled to Danning to get the fourth under way and Hoag lined to Moore. Selkirk fouled to Danning.

McCarthy was Gomez' fourth strikeout victim at the start of the home fourth. Danning fouled to Dickey and Whitehead lined to Selkirk.

Lazzeri opened the fifth with a triple to the center field barrier, a hit that certainly few batsmen have attained, a straightaway shot of some 480 feet. Tony promptly scored on Gomez single past Whitehead. Ripple came in a mile a minute for Crosetti's fly, then Rolfe walked. Di Maggio popped to Danning, but Gehrig doubled to center, Gomez scoring and Rolfe stopping at third.

Bases Are Filled.

Dickey walked on five pitches, filling the bases. Hoag fouled to Danning.

Ryan batted for Melton at the start of the home fifth and struck out on five pitches. Moore singled to center, his second and the Giants' sixth hit, but Bartell flied to Di Maggio. Ott grounded to Lazzeri.

Smith went in to pitch for the Giants at the start of the sixth. Selkirk grounded to McCarthy, then Smith hit the corn on Lazzeri's left little toe. Gomez bunted and forced Lazzeri, Ott to Bartell. Smith made a nice play to throw out Crosetti.

Ripple opened the Giant sixth with a line single to left, and stopped at second on Leiber's single to center. McCarthy bunted and forced Ripple at third, Gomez to Rolfe. Danning struck out the second time, missing the ball by several feet. Lazzeri tossed out Whitehead.

Gehrig Slams a Triple.

In the seventh Rolfe bounced to Ott and Di Maggio fanned. Ripple fell in the mud in going after Gehrig's drive and only alert recovery by Leiber held Lou to a triple. Dickey flied to Leiber.

Mancuso batted for Smith at the start of the Giant seventh and flied to Selkirk. Moore singled to center for his third hit, but was forced by Bartell when Crosetti trapped the latter's pop fly then threw to Lazzeri. Ott drew Gomez's first walk. Gomez threw three wide ones to Ripple then shot across two strikes. On the next pitch Ripple tapped to Lazzeri.

Brennan became the third Giant pitcher at the beginning of the eighth inning. Hoag sent Moore against the wall in deep left center for his liner. Selkirk singled to right, but Lazzeri popped to Bartell. Gomez flied to Moore.

Double Play Stops Giants.

Leiber opened the Giant eighth with his second single and the Giants' tenth hit. McCarthy flied to Selkirk and Danning lined into a double play, Gehrig unassisted.

Crosetti, first up in the ninth, walked, and reached second on Rolfe's sacrifice. Di Maggio popped to Bartell and Gehrig fanned for the second time in the game.

In the Giants' ninth Whitehead flied to Di Maggio. Berger batted for Brennan and bounced to Lazzeri. Moore ended the series with a bouncer to Gehrig and was out, Gehrig to Gomez.

Terry Admits Yankees Are Just Too Good

New York, Oct. 10.—(AP)—As the bedlam of a wild Yankee victory celebration shook the rafters of the adjoining clubhouse, Bill Terry fell a bit heavily into his office chair and sighed.

"The best ball club won," said the commander of the frustrated and beaten Giants and he didn't mean the "better" one. "That Yankee club is the best one I've ever seen and that takes in a lot of territory. I can't recall any club in my heyday that could have held them, though I can say we were a bit lousier than the umpiring.

"They have everything—hitting, pitching, and fielding. Of course, they got a few breaks, but I guess they made most of them. I'm satisfied that we really stayed in the ball game to the end today.

He's Glad It's Over.

"It might have been different if the umpire had ruled interference when Dickey tipped Berger's bat in the ninth. Everybody in the park saw that one except the umpires. O well, it's over and now I can doctor this cold."

The Yankee dressing room was different. One would think it was the first time the club had won a world series. Lefty Gomez was almost crushed as his pals, newspaper men, and club and American league officials swarmed about to shake his hand.

The biggest smile belonged to Col. Jacob Ruppert, the hero of the moment to the photographers. Seeing one news cameraman being bounced around a bit in the excitement, the colonel set up a pose with himself, Manager McCarthy, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri, and Joe Di Maggio.

"I'm proud of my boys; they're the world champions," shouted the colonel. "Now, boys, take all the pictures you want."

Joe Returns the Compliment.

"And Col. Ruppert is the best ball club owner in the world," shouted McCarthy. With that McCarthy mussed Di Maggio's hair and took an extra chew of gum.

"You're some boy, Joe," beamed the Yankee pilot.

Lazzeri took it all calmly.

"Through? I don't know," Tony said. "We'll see what happens next year."

Gomez was too hapy to shout his usual wisecracks. He didn't even talk about the hit he got.

"I felt fine all day and I had enough stuff and that's all I cared about," he said. "That home run ball I gave to Ott was a fast one inside."

"Berger says I tipped his bat," yelled Dickey, "but Lefty did it."

Landis Pays Respects.

Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis barely survived the crush to offer his congratulations. So did President Will Harridge of the American league and President Ford Frick of the National.

The most confident man of the whole party was Mark Roth, Yankee road secretary. He went around handing each player a white invitation to the victory celebration tonight for the Yankees.

"When did you get those printed?" he was asked. "Before the series?"

Mr. Roth intimated he had done just that.

Feller Fans Five in Two Innings; Team Wins, 1-0

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Cleveland's Bob Feller struck out five of the Kansas City Monarchs, American Negro league baseball champions, in the two innings he worked during a barnstorming exhibition here today. St. Ambrose Scores 12-0 Victory Over Columbia

Davenport, Ia., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—St. Ambrose college football team defeated Columbia college of Dubuque today, 12 to 0, before a homecoming crowd of 5,000. The Saints scored in the second and third periods, John Oelerich of Davenport, and Earl Adams of Brooklyn, carrying the ball over the goal.

Northern League Re-Elects Herman White President

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Herman D. White of Eau Claire, Wis., was reëlected president of the Northern Baseball league at the annual fall meeting of directors of the organization today. B. M. Neary of Eau Claire was renamed secretary.

Distarce Wins Oakland Race; Lou Schneider 4th

Eight Teams Pace Field in Little 19 Race

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—Brilliant performances by Illinois Wesleyan and Bradley in nonconference games Saturday overshadowed in interest the race for the Little Nineteen championship today.

Wesleyan defeated De Paul, 7 to 6, and Bradley fought a Big Ten opponent, Iowa, to a 7 to 7 tie for three periods before losing in the last quarter, 14 to 7.

Eight teams were unbeaten and untied in the championship race today after St. Viator, one of the defending co-champions, State Normal, Macomb Teachers, and Knox were successful in their first conference games. Bradley, Augustana, Wesleyan, and Monmouth won conference openers earlier in the season. McKendree and North Central are also undefeated, but have a tie on their records.

St. Viator defeated Carbondale Teachers, 14 to 0, Saturday night. In league games Saturday afternoon Knox beat Lake Forest, 7 to 6; State Normal spoiled De Kalb Teachers' homecoming, 14 to 2, and North Central beat Wheaton, 12 to 7. On Friday Macomb won from Carthage, 7 to 2, for its first victory in the series in 27 years.

This week Little Nineteen elevens engage in 13 games, eight of which will have a bearing on the determination of the 1937 champion. One of the standout battles of the season is scheduled Saturday when St. Viator and Illinois Wesleyan, the defending co-champions' clash in Bloomington.

Another battle between unbeaten leaders occurs at Macomb Saturday, when State Normal and Macomb Teachers meet.

The previous five game records for attendance and receipts were set by the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Athletics in the 1929 series, witnessed by 190,490 fans who contributed $859,494. This year's totals were 238,142 and $985,994.

The players' pool of $417,305.97 also surpassed the previous five game series mark of $388,086.66, set in 1929, although it was exceeded by the 1928 and 1936 totals. The players share only in receipts from the first four games.

Romnes Shows Well in First Drill for Hawks

Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 10.—[Special.]—The 1937-'38 edition of the Chicago Blackhawks' hocky team started its ice practice at the Muskegon rink this morning.

Affects Thompson's Scoring.

After an hour of skating, Manager Tobin expressed satisfaction over the condition and showing of Doc Romnes, veteran center, whose absence from play in twenty-two games last season because of a charley horse was the chief reason for the Hawks' failure to qualify for the Stanley cup finals.

Romnes' absence last season for so long a period had its effect on Paul Thompson, the Blackhawks' leading scorer, who had the best year of his career throughout the 1935-'36 season when he was receiving the expertly placed passes of Doc Romnes. It was Romnes' center play that season which won him the Lady Byng most valuable player award.

Gym Training Helps.

The way Vic Heiliger conducted himself through the skating drill also impressed Tobin. Heiliger, left wing and captain of last season's University of Michigan hocky team, showed speed and excellent skating form. He weighs 165 pounds.

Trudell, Levinsky, Brydson, Kendall, Seibert, Palangio and Wiebe showed to better advantage in the first workout than the rest of the squad. This is attributed to their ten days of gymnasium work in Chicago.

Kiglia Wins Prix Salverte by ½ Length from Sablon

PARIS, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Simon Guthman's Kiglia defeated Jean Lieux's Sablon by half a length to win the Prix Salverte, a 30,000 franc event, at Longchamps today. Robert Bollack's Quatrain was third in the 4,000 meter race.

BROWN TO SEEK EIGHTH STRAIGHT VICTORY TONIGHT

Meets Salvadore in Bout at Marigold.

Harold Brown, west side welterweight challenger, who pounded his way to victory over Tony Petroskey of Muskegon, Mich., last month, tonight will bid for his eighth consecutive triumph in a ten round bout with Georgie Salvadore of Houston, Tex., at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. The agreed weight is 147 pounds, a mark both lads can make with ease. Salvadore concluded drills at 144 pounds and Brown finished at 145.

Henry Huerta, Peoria, Ill., junior lightweight, meets Harvey Woods, Minneapolis, Minn., slat, in the six round semi-feature. Matches at four rounds are scheduled between Mike Pereira, Houston, Tex., middleweight, and Bob La Monte; Billy [K. O.] Brown, St. Louis, Mo., 165 pounder, and Tony Zale, Gary, Ind., and Frankie Agnes and Eddie Helstrom, Chicago, junior welterweight rivals.

Three bouts at 45 minutes will head Promoter Fred Kohler's wrestling show tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Pat Kelly is matched with Al Williams, Bill Weidner meets Jack Conley, and Stanley Buresch is paired with Rudy Kay. In matches at 30 minutes, Bobby Samson hooks up with Jose Rodriquez, and Charley Peterson with Angelo Martini. . . . Eddie Conroy, Portage park amateur welterweight, battles Harry Fredrickson in a return match at five rounds tonight at Northwest arena, 3968 Milwaukee avenue. . . . Jack Stamper, heavyweight protégé of Jimmy Carres of South Chicago, is to make his professional debut in a preliminary contest to the ten round headliner involving Barney Brock, Panama City, Fla., 195 pounder, and Buddy Knox at White City Friday.

Today's scheduled meeting of the Illinois athletic commission has been set back to Thursday. The session will be conducted by Chairman Joe Triner, who is expected back Wednesday from a lecture tour along the Atlanti cseaboard. . . . WORLD TURMOIL CAUSES DROP IN WHEAT MARKET

Prices at Lowest Level of Season.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Wheat prices in Chicago last week reached the lowest level of the season. Future contracts closed Saturday with an average loss of 8 cents a bushel compared with prices quoted a week earlier.

A number of influences have contributed to the weakening of the price structure, but primarily the cause of the market decline appears to be the lack of confidence in the economic outlook that has resulted in heavy liquidation and declining prices in all markets. New low prices for the season were chalked up last week for a number of commodities other than grain.

Future Difficult to Forecast.

Any day's headlines tell the story of an upside down world in which the future, economic and political, is difficult to forecast. That uncertainty has more to do than anything else with the price weakness in the grain market, although of other contributing influences are reflected in th eprice fluctuations.

The world's wheat outlook is not more favorable today than it was earlier in the season, when prices were considerably above the present level. In some respects the reverse is true. Had the prospective supply available for consumption throughout the world increased in the last few weeks, the decline in prices could be accounted for by that alone. Changes have occurred in different countries, but the general world supply situation has not been greatly altered.

The Australian and Argentine crops are not promising. Reports last week told of rains in some parts of the Argentine wheat belt, but not in the area which has been most in need of moisture. Australia has had little relief in the drouth areas.

Bankers See U. S. Business on Upgrade

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10.—(AP)—Men who keep their fingers on the financial pulse of the nation said tonight business in the United States definitly was on the upgrade.

The men, all delegates to the 63d annual convention of the American Bankers association, expressed confidence in an upsurge of business despite the stock market slump of the last two months and war scares abroad. They spoke in "five minute" interviews as they arrived here.

Optimistic accounts came from California, Chicago, the west, and the south.

Good Business in West.

From L. O. Ivey, executive vice president of the Citizens National Trust and Savings bank, Los Angeles, came the declaration that "conditions in our part of the country are very good indeed. We had a good cotton crop this year—the sheepmen are happy—we are getting new money every day from our oil and the picture in southern California is very good."

Ivey said the slump in the stock market "has, o fcourse, affected us out there just as it has affected you here. And we don't look upon the Japanese trouble as being too serious at present."

Chicagoan Is Obtimistic.

A definite buying movement in the winter and spring which will unleash a greater volume of spending power than has been known for some time was the predicition of Fred A. Cuscaden, vice president of the Northern Trust company, Chicago.

"Despite the market disturbance," asserted Cuscaden, "we will show a great upward trend. We in our area are not particularly disturbed over the future of that country, especially in the winter and spring."

L. S. Hawley, vice president of the Marshall National bank, Marshall, Tex., pointed to the bumper crop for his section and declared everything was in good shape in Texas.

A brief account of fine banking conditions in Kansas came from Elwood M. Brooks, Kansas bank commissioner of Topeka. Brooks and W. L. Webber, assistant bank commissioner, both declared business in their state was on the forward march.

STEEL OUTPUT SAGS FURTHER; RATE NOW 66 PCT.

Steel ingot production last week was estimated yesterday by the magazine Steel at 66 per cent of capacity, a decline of 8 points from the preceding week. All districts except New England shared in the reduction in operations.

The rate at Pittsburgh declined 9 points to 62 per cent, Chicago was 10½ points lower at 65, Cincinnati, 19 points lower at 70; St. Louis, 4 points lower at 60; Detroit, down 8 points to 92; Youngstown, 5 points lower at 60; eastern Pennsylvania, off 4½ points to 55½, Cleveland down 4 points to 63; Wheeling, 8 points lower at 74, and Birmingham, down 6 points to 77 per cent of capacity.

Ingot output during September amounted to 4,301,869 gross tons, which was 11.8 per cent under the August output of 4,875,671 tons but larger than the 4,151,388 tons produced in September, 1936.

SEEK STANDARD FOR REGISTERING NEW SECURITIES

The National Association of Securities Commissioners will attempt, at its annual convention beginning tomorrow at French Lick, Ind., to standardize the mechanics of registering securities in the different states, John T. Jarecki, Illinois securities commissioner and treasurer of the national group, said yesterday.

A committee appointed by the association to study the problem of creating uniformity in various registration regulations is expected to report at the convention. The committee recently met in Chicago.

American Superpower.

Investors' Guide: Please tell me something about American Superpower.—Miss N. K.

Answer: The American Superpower corporation, formed in 1923, is an investment company holding large blocks of stock of public utility companies.

Biggest investment in the company's portfolio on Dec. 31, 1936, consisted of 3,500,000 common shares and 2,721,447 warants of Commonwealth and Southern corporation. Next was its holding of 1,000,000 common shares and 993,400 warants of United corporation, 20,300 shares of whose preferred stock was added in the first half of this year. Two other major investments are 85,000 shares of Consolidated Edison of New York and 100,000 shares of Pacific Gas and Electric company.

Reflecting the position of the utilities in which it has a stake, American Superpower has earned nothing on its no par common or $6 dividend preference stock since 1931, and has failed to cover dividend requirements on its first preferred stock.

Requirements on the $6 dividend first preferred have been reduced materially by repurchase of the stock in the open market. In the five years ended Dec. 31, 1936, the number of shares outstanding was cut from 574,155 to 208,879. Another 14,155 shares were retired in the first half of 1937.

Market value of total assets dropped from $46,698,000 to $33,640,000 during the first half of 1937.

Net income was $331,000 or $1.70 per first preferred share in the six months ended June 30, 1937, compared with $309,000 or $1.38 per share in the first half of 1936.

Net income was $892,000 or $4.27 per first preferred share in 1936, compared with $460,000 or $1.86 in 1935, $346,000 or $1.29 in 1934, $624,000 or $2 in 1933, and $349,000 or $1.04 in 1932.

In 1931 net income was $5,444,000. This was equal to $8.50 on the preference stock and 4 cents on the common after allowance for first preferred dividend requirements. Net income was $8,213,000 or 38 cents per common share in 1930.

As of June 30, 1936, outstanding capitalization consisted of 194,724 shares of first preferred, 235,207 preference shares and 8,293,005 shares of common stock.

Dividends are being paid regularly on the first preferred. Nothing has been paid on the common since 1930 or on the preference since 1932.

American Superpower's outlook depends on earnings of the big utility holding companies in which it is interested.

British View Market Dip as Cloud on Trade

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Near panic markets in midweek resulting from the slump in Wall street have given the London financial community a somber view of business prospects. With events in the United States exerting a dominant influence on world markets, the London Financial News, in an analysis of the recent Wall street break, reports the possibility of the market disturbances resulting in a prolonged check in the upward movement of business.

Pointing to the 25 per cent drop in the Dow-Jones industrial stock average in the last six weeks, the study estimated that every 10 per cent dip in the level of American common stocks means a loss to British investors of $50,000,000 to $75,000,000. Continental holders were hit much harder, losing between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000, the article asserted.

More Harmful Effect Possible.

"Unless a turn comes in Wall street," it said, "the market will have to face not only distress sales by speculative holders but also liquidation by disappointed investors in these long term holdings."

The critical situation which developed in the London market Wednesday on the overnight slump in Wall street eased somewhat toward the end of the week. Sentiment was bolstered by successful negotiation of the fortnightly "settlement."

Although the accumulative effect of the market unsettlement in the last six weeks admittedly is serious, the Financial News says the slump may be a "breathing space in the upswing of American business" and an inevitable pause while the American industrial structure adjusts itself to the sudden increase in costs.

Franc "Finds Its Level."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 10.—The French franc finally has found its "natural level" at approximately 30 to the dollar, financial journals declared last week. The outlook, then, is for a "clear track" so far as currency troubles are concerned. The main worry, and it is a big one, is over the political complications on which light will be thrown by the cantonal elections.

Over Four Billion of U. S. Securities Due in Year

Obligations of the United States government in the hands of the public which will mature within twelve months amount to $4,347,918,500. They consist of treasury bonds, notes, and noninterest bearing discount bills.

Natural Business Year.

The practice of making the fiscal year of a particular enterprise coincide with its "natural business year" is becoming more prevalent.

As defined by the Natural Business Year council, the natural business year of an enterprise is the period of twelve consecutive months which ends when the business activity of the enterprise has reached the lowest point in the annual cycle.

Part of the work of the council has been to determine the natural business year for different industries. For example, the council has found that the appropriate time to end the natural business year of the automobile industry is Sept. 30, the time when old models are out of production and manufacture of new models is just starting. Before 1935, when the annual automobile show was held in January instead of November, the natural business year of the industry ended between Oct. 31 and Nov. 30.

The council is organizing committees in important cities to publicize the value of the natural business year instead of the calendar year as the proper fiscal year unless the calendar year is the natural business year.

Ford to Spend $40,000,000 on Enlarging Auto Plant

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 10.—(AP)—A $40,000,000 expansion program—approximately doubling the expenditure of a similar undertaking hard upon depression years—was announced today by the Ford Motor company for its Rouge plant here.

Construction of a 1,000 ton all-welded blast furnace at a cost of $4,500,000, which Ford officials said would be the first of its kind in the world, and the utilization of 45,000 tons of steel mark the plans.

Self-Contained Plant.

Coming within two years of completion of a huge 1934-'35 expansion program, the new projects for 1937-'38, officials said, will enable Ford to maintain its self-dependence policy in meeting increased production. A great share of the parts required in manufacture of Ford cars and trucks is made in Ford's own plants.

Foundry floor area, already the world's largest, will be increased to 38 acres with construction of a new cast alloy-steel foundry building covering approximately eight acres.

Elsewhere in the gigantic Rouge plant, which employs 90,000 men, nine 100 ton open harth steel furnaces will be rebuilt and new equipment installed in steel rolling and finishing mills completed only two years ago.

60 Inch Strip Mill.

The hot strip mill thus will be equipped to roll out a 60 inch sheet in place of the 48 inch sheet now rolled.

Ore requirements, once the new blast furnace is put in operation, will increase to 1,500,000 tons annually, compared with the present 850,000 tons, officials estimated. Sixty-one new coke ovens will meet the demand.

Two gas storage holders, with respective capacities of 10,000,000 and 2,500,000 cubic feet, will store fuel gas from the ovens. The gas will be used to enrich blast furnace gas for other production purposes.

RAILROAD PART IN CHICAGO LIFE TO BE PORTRAYED

The contribution of the railroads to the history of Chicago and the contribution of Chicago to the history of the railroads will be the theme of the fifth annual meeting and dinner of the Association of State Street Seniors, to be held Nov. 1 in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house. About 2,000 persons are expected to attend.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, heads the list of speakers. Frederick D. Corley, president of Marshall Field & Co., chairman of the board of the State Street council, will preside.

More than a dozen railroad presidents already have accepted the invitation of Harry Guy Taylor, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives, to attend.

Sharing honors with the railroad executives at the dinner will be veteran State street merchants. Henry C. Lytton, founder of the Hub and the only living member of the pioneers of State street, is honorary chairman. Richard B. Moffatt of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. is chairman of the Association of State Street Seniors.

New, Fast Mason City Train Named Marquette

The Milwaukee railroad's new high speed train running between Mason City, Ia., and Chicago has been named the Marquette, the road announced yesterday. The name was selected from several hundred submitted. Marquette, missionary and explorer, in 1673 camped at the location where the new train crosses the Mississippi.

CHICAGO TRADE EXPANDS WITH COOL WEATHER

More seasonable weather last week resulted in a sharp increase in Chicago retail business, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Heavy clothing and other cold weather needs were in good demand.

Wholesale and mail order sales continued to hold up well, the only weak spot being buying from the cotton producing areas, where the decline in cotton prices has reduced purchases.

BEATING OF WAR DRUMS ALARMS STOCK TRADERS

Week Sees Market Go Into Tailspin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 10.—The stock market last week suffered one of its most aggravated cases of the jitters, so severe that on Tuesday prices broke to a new low for the year. General agreement attributed the cause to presidential statements on the war situation and hints of a special session of congress this fall.

On its worst day, Tuesday, the Chicago Tribune averages for 50 stocks represented a loss of 9¾ points when prices were at their lowest. There was some improvement toward the end of the week, but there was still a net loss of 6.68 points in the average for the week.

The market had opened lower on Monday, cracked up on Tuesday following President Roosevelt's address in Chicago, staged a technical recovery on Wednesday, only to sell off at the close on Thursday. Friday followed an irregular pattern, being up most of the day but again weakening at the close. On Saturday it showed little change in quiet trading.

Of course, there were some strong

Women win new honors in business

If you are qualified to step into one of these jobs, the place to look for news of such openings is in the help wanted columns of the Chicago Tribune.

The Tribune is today, as for many years, Chicago's foremost employment market for women. Read the help wanted ads in today's Tribune.

Only Few Shares Escape Market Tailspin.

spots in the market, especially in the "war babies," which rose on reports of a large scale American armaments program.

A war scare was fanned by President Roosevelt's speech on Tuesday and the state department's indictment of Japan as an aggressor nation. Observers in the financial district recalled that it was just 20 years ago that America became entangled in a European war and did not feel comfortable over the recollection.

Fear Special Session.

As an offset to hints of budget balancing that enlivened discussion in the preceding week, financial men grasped at rumors that the special session of congress which the President apparently intends to call might see the unfolding of an armament program involving the expenditures of billions.

Should congress also pass the farm relief proposals, the hours, wages, and production control bill and the government's reorganization scheme, new ways for keeping the money flowing out of the treasury faster than the intake would be provided, it is claimed.

The statement here by Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation to the effect that "our country has seldom been more prosperous" was not taken too seriously by Wall street.

Trade Picture Fair.

Traders and brokers say they are getting tired of attempts to talk the market up or down. President Roosevelt last spring talked it into a tailspin, but now it is plain that more than words will be needed to square the situation. Less interference with business and agriculture is the Wall street cry.

In the face of the disturbing elements mentioned, nearly all good authorities on business conditions insist that distinctly unfavorable trade conditions are not indicted.

Rio Commercial Attache to Advise Chicago Trade

Walter J. Donnelly, recently appointed United States commercial attaché at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, will be available in Chicago for trade conferences with business men today, tomorrow, and Wednesday, George C. Payne, district manager for the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, announced yesterday. Donnelly has served in several foreign posts, including cities in Canada, Columbia, and Cuba. The bureau's office is at 333 North Michigan avenue.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Hemp Regulated

October 10, 1937.

EVERY farmer who raises hemp for any purpose is required to secure a producer's permit under provisions of the federal marihuana tax act of 1937 which became effective Oct. 1. All producers must be registered by Oct. 16, according to regulations just received in Chicago by Mrs. George Bass, supervisor of the federal narcotic bureau for Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin.

Persons who violate the act or fail to fulfill its requirements in any particular are liable to punishment, the maximum liability being a fine of not more than $2,000 or imprisonment of not more than five years, or both, for each offense.

Application Filed.

THE TRIBUNE'S Wheaton farm manager already has filed his application for a producer's permit with the collector of internal revenue in Chicago, paying a fee of $1 as required by the new law.

The permit was required because the farm has curing in the field fifteen acres of hemp waiting to be delivered to a manufacturer who intends to use the plants in making fiber products.

As long as the hemp is kept on the farm the manager is responsible for its safe keeping. Hemp belongs to that group of plants known botanically as Cannabis sativa L. The tops of hemp and other Cannabis plants are used for their intoxicating effect when chewed or smoked. The dried material from the tops is used in making marihuana cigarets.

Guard Is Required.

Because of the danger of the hemp being stolen and used unlawfully as marihuana, Mrs. Bass has asked the Tribune farm manager to guard the field day and night. She has instructed him to keep a night watchman on duty while the hemp is going through the curing stage. In addition to being guarded the hemp is protected by a tall woven wire fence.

Mrs. Bass says that as the law and its regulations are now written, the whole plant with the heads left on cannot be transferred from the farm to any one else, even a registered manufacturer, without paying to the federal treasury $1 an ounce for the marihuana or tops of the plants. If transferred to an unregistered manufacturer who has not paid the required tax of $24, the farm must pay $100 an ounce for the marihuana.

May Be Better to Burn It.

Since the farm is to receive only $15 a ton for the dry hemp plants, it is obvious that it would be prohibitive to transfer hemp to either a registered or unregistered buyer. It also would be impractical to remove the tops or the dangerous portion of the plant and deliver the harmless stalks. If these requirements are rigidly adhered to by the administrators of the marihuana law the farm manager likely would decide that the best way out would be to burn the entire crop harvested from the fifteen acres raised this year and discontinue his efforts to aid in the development of hemp as a commercial cash crop for farmers in this country.

Mrs. Bass says that officials responsible for the administration of the law recognized this difficulty and are making a careful study of the act and its regulations to see what can be done to coöperate with hemp for useful and harmless purposes.

UNEMPLOYED MEN. YOU MUST READ THIS UNUSUAL AD.

This message is addressed to men in Chicago and vicinity, who are looking for an opportunity of immediate employment, who have faith in themselves to do the things they will be taught how to do without any cost to them and with possibilities of earnings that may far exceed their expectations.

Any man who is unemployed and does not try to get work is a disgrace and liability to the community and the nation, if he does not take advantage of a position that is offered to him even though it be out of his regular line of work. Some of our men, who were unemployed a few years ago, heeded our call and went to work with us, have earned during these years of so-called depression [unknown to us as our business increased] more money in commissions than they previously had in their entire life, in salaries or commissions. Many have had the pleasure of buying new homes, automobiles, have substantial bank accounts, with earnings as high as $5,000 and up a year. Why not give yourself a chance? You may also be one of the men who could enjoy this unusual experience in unusual times.

This message comes from one of the largest companies in its line in the world, whose electrical unit products enjoy an enviable reputation and whose business is built on the soundest basis. We believe in paying a man all that he is worth and he is never handicapped by having to support a lot of dead wood, as, we are sorry to say, many business firms through their system have compelled a man to tolerate.

We are on an expansion program in Chicago and we are going to employ a certain number of men, give them an opportunity to prove to themselves the sincerity of the above statement. If we do not find enough men to respond to this ad, we will then transfer, from our neighboring cities, men who answered a similar ad and have proved so successful that they are willing to go anywhere to work. We prefer, however, to get as many men locally as is possible and, if you are a man who is unemployed or employed in a position where you feel you are entitled to greater earnings and are willing to learn, adapt yourself to our methods, and can furnish good references as to your character and habits, we will be very pleased to grant you an interview and we will frankly tell you whether or not you are fitted for our work.

Read this message at least twice, then come in to 604-20 E. Jackson Building, 20 E. Jackson-boulevard, Chicago, and meet one of the company's executives in a personal interview, Monday, Oct. 11, at 1 p. m. only.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Salesmen

WHAT KIND OF JOB ARE YOU LOOKING FOR?

Isn't a permanent position with good income and opportunity for advancement with a large company what you want? If you are a serious minded young man interested in your future and if you are 21 to 35 years of age and of neat appearance Commonwealth Edison company will consider you for a position in the Appliance Sales Department. If you meet with the above qualifications and you have the right attitude previous experience is unnecessary. The electrical business is a growing business and men in it receive good percentage plus bonus and in addition a drawing account is available for those who qualify. Apply Monday Room 1230, 140 South Dearborn-street, 9 a. m. to 11 a. m. only.

I WANT A MAN TO SHARE MY OPPORTUNITY.

I came to Chicago two years ago a stranger. Didn't know a street or a soul. I got into a business strange to me—and made good because I worked at it and because this is a wonderful elect. unit business. Now I am ready for a reliable man who can start work immediately on percentage. A west side or west suburban man of good character, 25 to 43 years of age, and preferably married. Call to see me promptly at 10:30 a. m. Monday morning, Oct. 11, at 3 W. Madison-street, Oak Park, southwest corner Madison and Austin, Room 250. Ask for T. N. Lind.

MEN—WORK.

TO THE man who is sincerely looking for a worth-while opportunity, who is honestly willing to study and work hard and satisfied to learn this electrical unit business and get along on nominal earnings to start, we have a permanent position that offers a genuine opportunity, advanced commissions and bonus. We are not looking for the smart fellow or the clever talker or so-called "high-pressure artist." We are interested in the earnest, sincere man, regardless of his former experience. This is work that he can easily adapt himself to. Applicants must be between the ages of 25-50. Character references required. Apply to Mr. L. Larsen, 1508 Pulaski-road, on Monday morning, 10:30 o'clock only.

MARINELLO

AN OPEN LETTER TO AMBITIOUS GIRLS:

What is put off till tomorrow is seldom done. Many people have excellent intentions about what they are going to do "tomorrow." The trouble is that "tomorrow" never comes for them.

The person who achieves success is the one who realizes there is only one time to do something. That is today—right now. Make your plans for the future today. Start your plan in action today. Consider Beauty Culture as a career today. It offers profitable, permanent employment with a future replete with possibilities for advancement—if you are properly trained.

If Beauty Culture appeals to you, come in and have a personal talk with me at Marinello (National School of Cosmeticians, Inc.), 108 N. State-street, Chicago, the foremost school of Beauty Culture in the world today. Day and evening classes at Marinello must necessarily be limited, therefore it will pay you to visit our school today.
